ANGLO-FRENCH PROPOSALS SPECULATION

PROVOCATIVE GERMAN PRESS UTTERANCE CONTINUES

Plebiscite Plan Dropped: Czech Boundaries To Be Re-Drawn?

London, September 19.

NO AUTHORITATIVE CONFIRMATION IS AVAILABLE in London regarding the lines of policy in regard to the Czechoslovak problem agreed upon at yesterday's meeting of the British and French Ministers.

There is considerable speculation on the subject in the press but leading articles generally withhold detailed comment and emphasise the need for calm restraint.

The "Daily Telegraph" says that a factor which is enormously strengthening the hand of statesmanship is the patient composure with which the public in Britain and France is bearing the strain and suspense.

DISAPPOINTMENT, ON THE OTHER HAND, is expressed in that the Berchtesgaden meeting has not been followed by a suspension of provocative utterance by the German press and radio while tremendous issues are being submitted to sober counsel.—British Wireless.

Transocean reports that the "Times" expresses great satisfaction with the outcome of the London conversations. A complete accord has been reached as to the ways and means to be adopted for arriving at a pacific settlement of the Czech-German conflict.

France and England are bound by a mutual agreement which might come into operation should the present international negotiations end in failure.

RESTRAIN ID OPTIMISM

London, Sept. 19.

The atmosphere prevailing at the moment in political circles here can be described as one of restrained optimism. No attempt, however, is made to overlook the fact that much opposition is expected from the opposition as soon as Parliament reassembles.

The London Stock Exchange made a dull and irregular showing this morning. Business was very restricted. City quarters have adopted the view that although the prospects of a pacific settlement have improved the crisis itself has not yet passed.

The bullion market reflected the difficulties confronting arbitrators and the price fell 2½d. to 144s. 7d.—Transocean.

FRENCH MINISTERS RETURN

London, Sept. 19.

M. Daladier, French Prime Minister, and M. Bonnet, French Foreign Minister, left Croydon at 8.20 this morning to return to Paris.

Both declined to make any statement in extension of the official communique on the London consultations issued on Sunday evening.—Transocean.

GERMAN TROOPS ENTRAINED

Munich, Sept. 19.

Troops are being entrained in freight vans at the eastern station on the line toward Austria but the exact destination is unknown.

Crowds are watching horse-drawn field guns and field kitchens arrive.—Reuter.

CABINET MEETING

London, Sept. 19.

The Cabinet meeting approved of the Inner Cabinet's decisions.

It is understood that the question of a plebiscite has been dropped and that plans now to be submitted to the Czechs will be based on the principle of redrawing the boundaries.

There will be no disclosure of details pending consideration by the Czech Government.

Mr. Chamberlain has provisionally arranged to leave for Germany on Wednesday.—Reuter.

WASHINGTON NOT SURPRISED

Washington, Sept. 19.

The communique issued from London was received without surprise as diplomatic quarters had heard that the British and French Governments were determined to do everything consistent with national honour to avert war.

An influential observer stated. "We must not prejudice them. We only hope that the European democracies have decided on a course which other democracies will not have cause to be ashamed of."—Reuter.

Chinese Successes At Kwangtsi, Wusueh

Hsishui, September 19.

Considerable successes by Chinese troops operating on the Kwangtsi and Wusueh fronts were reported in field despatches received here today.

On the Kwangtsi line, Chinese forces launched a fierce counter-attack on various important points held by the Japanese yesterday, and re-captured several heights surrounding the city.

Japanese suffered heavy casualties.

Five hundred Japanese troops at Simokiao, near Kwangtsi, were wiped out yesterday.

At Wusueh, thirty kilometres southwest of Hwangmei on the north bank of the Yangtse opposite Matowchen, 2,000 Japanese are marooned by flood waters and also harassed by Chinese troops who engaged them in fierce street fighting throughout yesterday.—Central News.

IMPORTANT PHASE

Prague, Sept. 19.

The Czechoslovak Cabinet met today at forenoon to discuss the situation created by the decisions reached during the course of the Anglo-French ministerial talks in London. The session was presided over by Dr. Benes, Czech President. While this fateful session was in progress the Prague wireless station broadcast a report in which the London consultations were described as an important phase of the dramatic development of the present European crisis but as not constituting the last word. Nothing definite is known here yet, said the broadcast speaker, of the extent and nature of the Anglo-French proposals but it is understood that the diplomatic representatives of Britain and France have been instructed to inform the Czech Government of them without delay.—Transocean.

BRITISH, FRENCH CABINETS MEET

NO OFFICIAL STATEMENT

London, Sept. 19.

The British Cabinet met at 11 o'clock this morning. The meeting lasted until 1 p.m.

No official statement has been issued and the exact date of the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville chamberlain's return to see Herr Hitler was not announced.

In Paris, the French Cabinet also met this morning.

It is officially stated that the meeting unanimously approved of the Prime Minister, M. Daladier's attitude to the London policy agreed upon at the meeting of British and French Ministers there.—Reuter Bulletin.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S VISIT

Berlin, Sept. 19.

"Officials from Berlin have been engaged to go to Desberg in preparation for the British Prime Minister, Mr. Chamberlain's visit. The Ministry of Propaganda has taken over a hotel there and it is thought likely that Mr. Chamberlain will come to Desberg tomorrow or Wednesday.—Reuter Bulletin.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN STOCKHOLM

Stockholm, Sept. 19.

The municipal elections, which were held throughout Sweden yesterday, have resulted in a victory for the Social Democrats who gained 133 seats, mainly at the expense of the Conservatives who lost 96 seats, and the Peasants' Union, who lost 34 seats.

By winning 10 further seats in the Swedish capital the Social Democrats have now the absolute majority on the Stockholm City Parliament, claiming 55 of 100 seats.

The results up to the present are Conservatives 157 seats, Peasants' Union 149, Peoples Party 153, Social Democrats 801, Communists 24, Socialist Party 4.—Transocean.

DEMONSTRATION IN LONDON

"Stand By The Czechs"

London, Sept. 19.

Police were hurriedly summoned to prevent disorders at a demonstration which formed a procession in the direction of Downing Street and Whitehall shouting: "Stand by the Czechs."

No one was allowed to enter Downing Street while Whitehall was closed to traffic for some time.

The demonstration was organised by the International Peace Campaign.—Reuter Bulletin.

Herr Hitler's Declaration

London, Sept. 19.

"I am convinced of Mr. Chamberlain's good will and of his sincerity" declared Herr Adolf Hitler in an interview published in the "Daily Mail" this morning.

"It was solely the existence of Czechoslovakia as an ally of Soviet Russia in the heart of Germany that compelled me to build up such a large German air force. We have constructed something like a Maginot line, but according to our own ideas. It is our intention, if we are attacked, to remain on the defensive.

"Nobody in Germany even dreams of attacking France. We feel no resentiment against France, on the contrary there is much sympathy for France in Germany. Similarly no German wants a war with England."—Transocean.

NO DECISION

London, Sept. 19.

The National Council of the Labour Party met this morning to receive the report of the deputation which saw the Prime Minister on Saturday. The meeting was adjourned as no decision was arrived at.—Reuter Bulletin.

STIRRING VALOUR OF CHINESE FORCES IN SIKULING BATTLE

Colonel Directs Men With Great Calm: Attacks Repulsed

Nanchang, September 19.

Stirring chapters of gallantry and valour were written by officers and men of the Chinese defence forces in the battle for Sikuling, strategic height on the Kiukiang-Tehan line, which fell into the hands of the invaders on September 13.

Reports of the heroic deeds of the Chinese fighters, gathered with great difficulty at the front, began to filter in to the headquarters here yesterday. They speak eloquently of the excellent discipline and indomitable spirit of those who defended the strategic height for more than ten days against overwhelming odds in arms and equipment.

Four officers, hailing from widely separated provinces, shone brilliantly among the rest of the rank and file in the defence of Sikuling. They are Major Lin Tsin-hui of Kwangtung and Major Lin Chien-chung of Hunan, both killed, and Colonel Chen Shih-tsang of Hopei and Captain Shiang Chen-hsin of Szechuen, who were seriously wounded whilst directing operations.

Holding on to his post with gas shells bursting all over him, Major Lin Tsin-hui, died a heroic death together with his entire battalion at Yangwumiao. His body was recovered together with the remains of Major Lin Chien-chung.

GREAT RESOURCEFULNESS

Colonel Chen distinguished himself in defending No. 2521 height of Sikuling. Directing his men with great calm and resourcefulness, he was responsible for the repulse of numerous attacks by the Japanese forces.

Captain Shiang, only 27 years of age, has been promoted Major because of his courage and valour. Wounded twice by poison gas and bleeding from the nose and eyes, he led his men to charge the attackers and was injured again by machine-gun bullets. He refused to leave the battlefield and had to be dragged to the rear for his wound to be dressed.—Central News.

JAPANESE ADVANCE CHECKED

Wuning, Sept. 19.

A regiment of Japanese, supported by several heavy artillery pieces and advancing westward along the highway from Juichang, is checked at Chayuanling midway between Juichang and Wuning.

The Japanese in their drive captured Fangkiapu and Fengkiapu, small villages west of Juichang, on the highway on Sept. 17.

Staging a counter attack, the Chinese forces in the vicinity of Siashih surrounded a Japanese company and completely wiped the the whole force out on the same

Strong Chinese Division Defending Road To Sinyang

RAIN BRINGS JAPANESE AIR ACTIVITIES TO STANDSTILL

Hankow, September 19.

CHINESE MILITARY AUTHORITIES are closely watching the developments on the Hwangchwan front where the Japanese are understood to have reached close to the Pinghan Railway.

Chinese circles, however, are not unduly concerned since it is pointed out that the strong Chinese division which won the Lingyi battle is at present defending the road to Sinyang. To the south of Sinyang is strategic Wushengkwan, famous mountain pass guarding the northern border of Hupeh province

Japanese forces at Shangchen are moving southward while one detachment is said to be moving westward to support the Japanese at Kwangchwan.

Chinese troops are at present holding strong positions along the northern range of the Tapieh mountains near the northern Hupeh border.

Further south, Japanese forces at Kwangtsi are pushing in two columns, one heading westward in the direction of Sungshankou and the other heading southward in the direction of Huangtu.

The southern column apparently aims to join forces with the Japanese at Wuhsueh to attack the Chinese fortifications in the hills to the west of Wuhsueh and also in the vicinity of Tienchiacheng. Heavy fighting is reported in both sectors.

A strong Chinese column crossed the Huangmei River to the Kwangtsi highway from the north pushing south-eastward for the purpose of threatening the rear of the Japanese forces operating at Kwangtsi.—Reuter.

RAIN AIDS DEFENDERS

Hankow, Sept. 19.

The intermittent rain during the past few days is claimed to have helped the Chinese defenders considerably as the bad weather brought Japanese air raid activities on the various fronts to a standstill.

Japanese forces at Kwangtsi, declares a Chinese military spokesman, are striking south-westward towards Tienchiacheng where the strongest Chinese fortifications and the boom at the Yangtse are located while another Japanese column is pushing westward along the highway towards Chatling.—Reuter.

JAPAN CALLS RESERVISTS TO COLOURS

Nanchang, Sept. 19.

Heavy Japanese losses as a result of severe attacks on Chinese fortified posts have obliged the Japanese to call up reserviists to the colours.

Even sons of Royal or aristocratic families are conscripted. Among the new arrivals at Shanghai is the Rev. Yukyo Shibuya, 21, nephew of Empress Dowager and eldest son of Baron Rukyo Shibuya. The conscript is the new head priest of the Bukkoji Head Temple.

Scions of opulent families are, however, required only for garrison duties in the Shanghai, Nanking and Hangchow area.—International.

SHOOTING ON BORDER

Soviet Cavalrymen In Incident

Tokyo, Sept. 19.

It is officially reported from Harbin that several Soviet cavalrymen illegally crossed the border at 7.30 p.m. yesterday in West Manchuria and fired on Manchukuo border guards who returned fire.

The Soviet cavalrymen were dispersed, except one, who was shot from his horse. There were no casualties among the border guards.—Reuter.

SERIES OF ROBBERIES IN NEW TERRITORIES

Nunneries Entered: Money And Jewellery Stolen

Before Mr. Justice Williams, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday morning, three men, Liu Kam, Cheung Sang and Chiu Chung, were arraigned on charges on robbery and receiving stolen property.

Liu Kam was charged with robbery, Cheung appeared on a charge of receiving stolen property and four counts of robbery. Third defendant was charged together with Chiu on two of the robbery charges.

Mr. J. B. Prentis, Assistant Crown Solicitor, said that the case was serious. A series of robberies had taken place in the New Territories during June, July and August, and had been carried out by a gang of four or five men. The robbers had gained access to nunneries by making a hole in the roofs, and the occupants were robbed of money, jewellery and clothing.

Among the places robbed, were the Hung Sing Temple, and the Chin Wai Tong, Wong Ching Tong Cheung Shan, and Po Chan Tong nunneries.

ALLEGED LEADER

Mr. Prentis said that Cheung appeared to be the alleged leader of the gang. In the case of the last two robberies, the intruders had resorted to violence.

Evidence was lacking with regard to Liu having committed any of the other robberies than that with which he was charged.

His Lordship sentenced Liu to three years' hard labour and Cheung to four years.

A total of three and a half years' imprisonment was passed on Chiu.

81,412 HEROIN PILLS SEIZED

ACCUSED GIVEN PRISON TERMS

SEQUEL TO RAID

Sentence of two years' hard labour was passed on Lau Ming-hing when he appeared before the Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday, on a charge of the possession of 20,112 heroin pills on August 6.

Mr. J. Whyatt, Crown Counsel, said that defendant was arrested in Queen's Road West by a Chinese constable. Defendant was carrying a parcel which contained the pills, and stated that he had been paid 40 cents to carry it.

The jury empanelled were:—Messrs. E. Manning (Foreman), C. A. Lopes, L. G. Ribeiro, F. J. Wilkinson, E. F. Fincher, J. Braga and M. Davis.

PLEA CHARGE

Ma Yet 27, unemployed was sentenced to two years' hard labour on a charge of the possession of 20,000 heroin pills. Defendant was arrested in Lockhart Road on August 4 by a district watchman.

Accused, who pleaded not guilty, admitted the offence at the conclusion of the Crown's case and pleaded for leniency.

The following jury was empanelled to hear the case:—Messrs L. B. Gomes (foreman), How Ah-lan, Wong King-cho, Lo Chung-wan, Lam Hew-cho, J. A. da Costa Gonsalves and Wong Tai-cho.

UNEMPLOYED GAOLED

For the possession of 41,300 heroin pills and 22 3/4 pounds of mass containing diacetyl morphine, Cheung Lam, 18-year-old unemployed was sentenced to 2½ years' hard labour.

Defendant pleaded guilty to the charge. He was arrested during a raid on a house in Staunton Street on August 23.

Mr. J. Whyatt, Crown Counsel prosecuted.

STOLE PEN FROM POLICE OFFICER

Appearing on remand before Mr. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday on a charge of attempted theft of a fountain pen from Police Sub-Inspector J. H. Edwards, Lin Hai-yuen, unemployed, was sentenced to three months' hard labour and recommended for banishment at the expiration of his prison term.

Defendant denied the charge and told the Court that he approached Inspector Edwards to ask for help.

TO BE BANISHED

Sentence of three months' hard labour was imposed on Chan Fook, unemployed, when he appeared before Mr. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday on a charge of theft of a fountain pen, six pieces of clothing and 14 cents from a house in George Lane. Accused was also recommended for banishment.

The Imperial Airways plane Delphinus, which left yesterday for Bangkok, carried one passenger, Mr. H.M. Shafi, bound for Calcutta, and 267.824 kilos of mail.

BOARDED SHIP UNLAWFULLY

Money Missed From Trunk

ACCUSED FROM CANTON

Chan Kwok-yan, 23, appeared before Mr. Barnett at the Kowloon Court yesterday on two charges of larceny of a key, property of Captain Thomas of the s. s. President Cleveland, and unlawful boarding of the vessel on September 13 at No. 5 Kowloon Wharf.

Evidence was given by Mr. M. Talan, Shiping Agent for American Lloyd Ltd., and Captain W. H. Thomas, Port Captain in charge of operations for the Dollar Steamship Company.

Mr. Talan stated that he was with Dr. Talbot in his cabin when it was discovered that the lock of the doctor's trunk had been broken and some money was missing.

The purser was notified, he in turn notifying Captain Thomas. The purser's clerk pointed out defendant as a suspicious character. An Indian police constable then searched him and found on his person a tag and the key.

At the time of his arrest defendant had on his person $14 in Hong Kong currency.

Chan pleaded that he had come from Canton to find a man named Leung Ping-nam, with whom he was to go back to that city. It was while in search of this man that he had boarded the President liner.

On the first charge, defendant was sentenced to three months' hard labour; on the second, he was fined $14. He will be sent back to Canton.

CROWN LAND SOLD YESTERDAY

Three lots of Crown land were sold by auction at the P.W.D. Land Sales yesterday.

Inland Lot No. 5377 (adjoining inland lot No. 3291, King Kwong Street, Wong Nei Chong) and new Kowloon Inland Lot 2631, Tai Po Road, Shamshuipo, were sold at the upset prices of $8,950 and $16,363. The purchaser of the first was Mr. Yau To-wing and of the second Messrs. Wong Tat-yieu and Kong Siu-yung.

Bidding for the third lot, Kowloon Inland Lot No. 2632, was brisk. At an upset price of $8,505, it reached $15,500 before the hammer fell. The buyer was Mr. Lai Tat.

SHIP SAILED LATE: MASTER FINED

Captain L. V. Rowe, of the s.s. Sui Yang, was summoned before Mr. Barnett at the Kowloon Court yesterday with having started on a voyage from the Harbour an hour later than the notified hour of departure, namely noon on September 6.

Captain Rowe pleaded extenuating circumstances in that he wished to put ashore a passenger who was very ill, and who would possibly have died at sea.

Det.-Sgt. J. R. Sykes said that the police did not wish to take a serious view of the case, taking into consideration the circumstances that had prompted the late departure.

A fine of $5 was imposed.

POSSESSION OF COUNTERFEIT COINS

THREE CASES AT THE SESSIONS

JUDGE'S COMMENT

At the criminal Sessions yesterday morning, Mr. Justice E. H. Williams sentenced a woman, Chan Siu, to two years' hard labour for the possession of 1,978 counterfeit ten cent coins.

It was stated that the defendant was arrested at Wing Kat Street on August 18.

Defendant, pleading guilty to the charge said that the coins did not belong to her.

In passing sentence, His Lordship said that he accepted her statement, but even so she must have known that she was committing an offence.

Mr. J. B. Prentis, Assistant Crown Solicitor, prosecuted.

ARRESTED IN HOUSE

Sentence of three years' hard labour each was passed on Yim Sau 28, and Li Yung 24, when they pleaded guilty to the possession of ten counterfeit ten-cent pieces, 103 counterfeit five-cent coins, also a number of moulds for counterfeiting purposes.

The accused were arrested in a house in Main Street, Shaukiwan on August 6.

Mr. Justice Williams heard the case.

BAD CASE

Li Chi-sing 25, unemployed, was sentenced to five years' hard labour when he pleaded guilty to charges of making counterfeit coins, possession of counterfeit coins and possession of eight moulds for the purpose of counterfeiting before Mr. Justice Williams.

Mr. Prentis mentioned that the case was an exceptionally bad one. Defendant was caught in the act of making the coins at a flat in Tai Nam Street on August 31 and a very large number of counterfeit coins were found. The paraphernalia was capable of making a large number of coins.

In sentencing defendant, his Lordship remarked that when defendant came to the Colony, he had professed to be a refugee. "This is the way you have shown your gratitude to the Colony," concluded his Lordship.

MONTH'S NOTICE NOT GIVEN

Wong Nuen-ping, master of the Yiu Tak printing shop, was summoned before Mr. Hoston at the Central Court yesterday for having unlawfully dismissed a compositor, Chan Wing, without the usual month's notice.

Chan said that on August 20, defendant asked him to work over-time. He informed the defendant that he was unable to do so as his mother was coming down from Canton. For his refusal he was dismissed immediately.

Wong was ordered to pay $10 to Chan Wing being a month's salary and board and lodging for the days during his unemployment.

ANOTHER CASE

Appearing before Mr. Butters, on a similar summons, Wong Hong-shing, master of the Sun Ting Shing printing shop, was ordered to pay $8 to a foki, Wong Long-shing, who was said to have been dismissed without reason, without the usual month's notice on August 24.

YOUTHS COMMENDED FOR CATCHING SNATCHER

Two 15-year-old youths, J. Ritchie and F. J. Santos, were commended by the Magistrate, Mr. Macfadyen, at the Kowloon Court yesterday for apprehending a snatcher in Chacolgne Road on Saturday afternoon.

Defendant in the case, Ho Cho, was charged with snatching a handkerchief containing $38 from a woman, Cheung Ho, while she was walking near the Diocesan Girls' School. He was chased and caught by the two youths.

Sentence of six months' hard labour was passed. Accused had a previous conviction.

BANISHEE COMMITTED

Wong Man, 38, unemployed, was committed to stand trial at the Criminal Sessions by Mr. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday on a charge of breach of Deportation Ordinance.

Wong was banished for 10 years on December 1936.

Saikung Village Rumours And Forged Bank Note: Woman Discharged

After retiring for more than 40 minutes, a jury comprising Messrs. Francis Harry Glover (foreman), Li Kwan-hung, Oskar Guttinger, Ip Kan-ko, Mohamed Sabban, Charles Tetsel and Li Chuen, returned a verdict by majority of not guilty against a woman, Chan Ho, who was arraigned before the Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell at the Criminal Sessions yesterday, on counts of possession of a forged $5 bank note, and uttering same.

The offence, said Mr. J. Whyatt, Crown Counsel, was committed in a place called Saikung village, where every villager knows each other, more or less, by sight. A shop-keeper, Lam Sam, sold biscuits and aerated waters in his shop. On August 24, in the afternoon, Lam Sam was in his shop. Two other men were also there at the time playing Chinese chess. There was also a third person in the shop that afternoon, a boy of thirteen years, named Lau Woo-kay, who was sitting near the counter.

Defendant, who was a stranger, entered the shop and proceeded to the counter and ordered 10 cents worth of soda biscuits, 10 cents worth of another kind of biscuit and 13 cents of bananas. In payment she tendered a $5 banknote.

The shop-keeper, not noticing anything wrong with the note accepted it and gave back $4.67 change. Defendant walked out of the shop, and the boy, who was present all this time, also left, and went to his father's shop where there was a conversation and it appeared that there were certain rumours in Saikung that afternoon.

NOTE EXAMINED

As a result of these rumours, the boy returned to Lam Sam's shop about 20 minutes after he had left the shop. The boy spoke to Lam Sam whereupon the latter examined the $5 note and came to the conclusion that it was a forgery.

Defendant was found, after a search, a quarter of a mile away.

When charged, she denied having uttered the $5 note. On her person was found $14 in small money and notes.

At an identification parade, Lam Sam and the boy and another witness picked defendant out as the person who had entered the shop and made the purchases.

DEFENDANT IN BOX

After Lau Woo-kay, Lau Shek-on, and Mr. R. H. E. Marks, A.S.P., had given evidence, defendant elected to enter the witness box.

She denied having had in her possession the alleged forged note nor did she utter it. She had gone to Saikung that day to look for her sister. As she could not find her sister she left, when she was half way of her journey, she was arrested and she did not know why. She was taken away and was accused of having uttered a forged $5 note.

Lee Pak-mui, gave evidence that Chan Ho was, to her knowledge, a woman of good character.

After the jury had returned their verdict, defendant was acquitted.

WOMAN'S DEATH FALL FROM JUNK

Jury's Rider At Inquest

An inquiry into the death of a woman, Wong Yuk, a night soil coolie, who, in the early hours of the morning of August 6 is believed to have slipped off a conservancy boat at the Yaumati Typhoon Shelter and drowned, was held at the Kowloon Court yesterday before Mr. Macfadyen, sitting as Coroner and a jury comprising Messrs. Harold William Wing Lee (Foreman), Chan Kwong-yin and Yip Chung-shu.

The Coroner explained that the purpose of the inquiry was for the determination of three points, namely:—

Whether the condition of the gang-plank off which the woman had slipped was known to be defective;

Whether this defect of the gang-plank would prove a trap to the coolies;

Whether the absence of the coxswain, Tsui Ping, in any way effected the incident of the woman's drowning.

In returning a verdict of death from asphyxiation by drowning, due to misadventure, the jury added the following rider:

"It should be a regulation strictly enforced that someone should remain on board these conservancy junks during the whole of the working hours."

Witnesses called were Dr. Tai, of the Kowloon Public Mortuary, Insp. Kerrison, of the Sanitary Department, Tsui Ping, coxswain of the conservancy junk, Lei On, a "foreman" who claimed to know something of deceased, and Ng Sai, 14-year-old son of the deceased woman.

Tsui Ping, in evidence, stated that he was coxswain of conservancy junk No. 12. As the sea was somewhat rough on the day of the incident, he had, contrary to the regulations, left the junk.

On returning he had noted something amiss about the junk. He noticed an overturned bucket of night soil. This bucket was not of the type commonly used by the conservancy boat coolies.

A rung from the gang-plank was missing. It had not been missing when he had left. Noticing bubbles in the water, he jumped into the sea. He had pulled the dead woman out by the leg. He tried to revive deceased with peppermint oil.

He went to the Yaumati Police Station, there reporting the incident.

Ng Sai, son of the deceased, stated that his mother could see and hear well and was fairly strong. She usually left the house daily at 11 p.m. returning about 8 a.m. He did not know when she had left on the night of her death.

LARCENY BY FINDING

Silver Coins Lost In Transit

Two boatwomen appeared before Mr. Barnett at the Kowloon Court yesterday on different charges of larceny by finding. While a large sum of money was being transported on September 16 from the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank to the s.s. Chitral, $300 Chinese National currency in 20 cent pieces and $41.25 in Hong Kong currency was lost.

First defendant, Chan Sam, owner of boat 761B, is charged with appropriating to her own use $300 worth of 20 cent coins carried in her boat. Second defendant, Au Lok, is charged with appropriating to her own use $41.25 of the money carried in her boat.

Acting Det.-Sub-Insp. C. Goodwin asked for a remand of three days in police custody. Bail was allowed at $400 for first defendant, and $200 for second defendant.

Mr. Hin-shing Lo will appear for both defendants.

SENTENCED ON OPIUM CHARGES

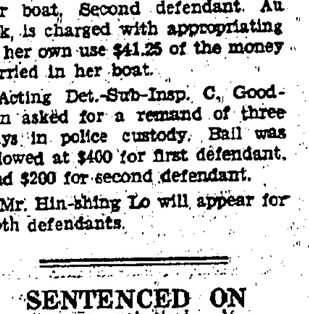
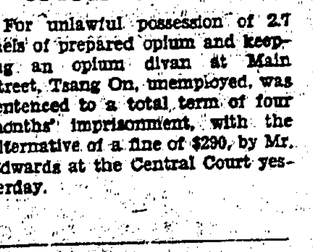
For unlawful possession of 2.7 taels of prepared opium and keeping an opium divan at Main Street, Tsang On, unemployed, was sentenced to a total term of four months' imprisonment, with the alternative of a fine of $290, by Mr. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday.





A grateful Sanatogen user writes:

"I am like new-born with plenty of energy and new vitality. It is as if I were now on a new road to health. I regard Sanatogen as a real tonic for those living in the tropics."

New Vitality and Strength for you, too

Many thousands have taken Sanatogen with the result that tiredness and weakness disappeared after a short time. For Sanatogen gives new strength and energy to the run-down cells of body, blood and nerves. Buy a bottle to-day. Your fatigue and listlessness will soon be driven away. You will feel fit and fresh again, full of energy and cheer.

Sanatogen will feed your nerves, and put fresh blood into your veins. Give it a trial. You will be astonished at the wonderful improvement in your health.

Air-barrage Secrets Revealed

Balloons To Be Bullet-Proof

The Air Ministry recently disclosed for the first time some of the secrets of Britain's air defence—the finest in the world.

With the Air Minister I saw a No. 1 R.A.F. Balloon Centre, Kidbrooke, near Eltham, S.E., the whole system of balloon barrage, designed to make London safe against attack. No other country possesses such a system, writes a Home correspondent.

No bigger than a London bus, 600 of these silver kite-shaped balloons will form two alternating circles.

From each balloon will hang a mile-high chain of steel, through which, war-time pilots told me, no 'plane could fly. Wings and fuselage would be ripped off at the slightest touch.

When the chains were suspended from the balloons recently they were hardly visible. Certainly no plane could see them.

They cannot be deflated by a bullet because the material would "give" and render the bullet harmless.

Sir Kingsley Wood, the Air Minister, entered one of the kites as it lay on the ground inflated by air. Later he appealed for 5,000 recruits for the ten balloon squadrons being formed. Kidbrooke centre will take 1,500.

"The balloon barrage," said Sir Kingsley, "is designed to form an important part of the co-ordinated scheme of fighter aeroplanes, balloons, guns and searchlights for the defence of London."

The Minister's triumphant return. 'It looks as though the inside of a balloon is a better place than one might think, although it must be a tight spot all round. Anyway Sir Kingsley passed it as good and everyone was happy.

MANY KINDS OF MOSQUITOES

There are mosquitoes and mosquitoes. There are the tiny ones that have a preference for flying into the eyes of innocent cyclists and dying there; there are large ones that, after a scorching day, annoy town dwellers and peasants who are taking a breath of fresh air on balconies, outside cafes or in front of their cottages; there are also species of mosquitoes that whirl about in millions and make positive clouds and render main roads useless, because motor car radiators become chocked and screen wipers are unable to remove such quantities of insects.

Dutchmen, in their waterlogged country, can talk about mosquitoes. Nevertheless, speaking generally, they are very lucky, for with the exception of certain districts, there are no mosquitoes in this country whose bites have serious consequences.

On the other hand, if you are bitten by a mosquito in tropical regions, there is every possibility that you will be confined to your bed shortly afterwards, owing to fever. This is caused by the malaria mosquito (anophele). If so, you would do wise to follow the advice of the Malaria Commission of the League of Nations, which recommends for the cure of malaria a daily dose of 15 to 20 grains of quinine to be taken from five to seven days. This kind of mosquito frequently occurs in hot countries and can bring about national calamities, as was shown by the last epidemic in Ceylon.

DURING FEVER SEASON

Naturally, steps can be taken to protect oneself by preventing the mosquitoes from penetrating into houses and by sleeping under a mosquito net, but this is not sufficient. Quinine must also be taken beforehand, to neutralise the effect produced by the bite of the anophele. According to the Malaria Commission, a daily dose of six grains of quinine throughout the fever-season is the right quantity for preventing malaria. Thus, quinine is an absolutely indispensable remedy in the tropics.

But in other countries, quinine is equally indispensable. It seems, in fact, that this product wards off influenza colds and influenza and that three grains per day afford an excellent preventive remedy against these maladies.

Many well-known scientists such as Professor Spitta, Professor Berger and Professor Laubenheimer have proved experimentally that influenza can be warded off by taking small doses of quinine every day, during the cold season.

Ending a two-month intensive training course, designed to qualify them as newspaper workers, 65 young Chinese will be graduated from a special institute created in Nanking by the Publicity Bureau of the Reformed Government, the Shanghai Mainichi reported recently. The graduates will be further "farmed out" to various existing newspapers in the territory within the Reformed Government's control to serve a month's apprenticeship before being given jobs, the Japanese daily said.

Get rid of Disfiguring Blemishes this Easy Way

Nothing can be more distracting to a woman than ugly pimples, burning irritations or patches of blackheads or enlarged pores on the face or neck. Some resort to heavy powdering in an effort to hide them; whilst others cause the skin to become muddy-looking, coarse and blemished by using the wrong treatment.

To make your skin clear and healthy, to cleanse clogged facial pores, remove blackheads and pimples and to make your complexion clearer and smoother, use Cuticura.

Cleanse the skin with Cuticura Soap twice a day. Its luxuriant and mildly antiseptic lather is soothing and softening; washes away pore-deep dirt which causes blackheads, enlarged pores and ugly complexion defects.

To rid the skin of pimples, skin outbreaks, rashes or irritations use Cuticura Ointment direct on the affected part before washing with the soap. Its antiseptic action kills germs, soothes and heals and quickly clears the skin.

Sold by all Chemists and Stores. Ask for Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. And for powder use Cuticura Talcum—exceptionally fine and pure, exquisitely perfumed.

One Weak Joint Caused Crash Of Albatross

The cause of the accident to the Albatross monoplane, which broke in two while being tested, was a weakness in one joint of the fuselage.

Strengthening at this point is all that is required to avoid all danger of similar accidents, writes a Home correspondent.

The work on the five monoplanes of similar type, under construction for Imperial Airways is not likely to be held up.

The Albatross, a 40-seater air liner, had been undergoing overload tests before a transatlantic flight. The airplane had landed, but broke when taxi-ing in. No one was hurt.

ATLANTIC FLIGHT PLAN

A conference was held at Hatfield airfield recently, attended by the chiefs of the De Havilland Aircraft Company, makers of the Albatross. They considered what effect the accident would have on the forthcoming Atlantic flights.

I understand that the programme announced by Imperial Airways is likely to be modified and that Cabot, the first of the specially strengthened Short Empire flying boats, is likely to make the next flight to America, instead of the Albatross.

The Albatross was given a certificate of airworthiness for a load of 29,500 lb. as a passenger airplane. De Havillands were actually making trials loaded to 32,500 lb. for structure tests when the accident occurred.

Training The Navy's Pilots

London, Sept. 8.

Migration of aircraft and personnel of No. 1 Flying Training School of the Royal Air Force has brought this famous nursery of pilots back to its original base at Netheravon, Salisbury Plain, after a three-year sojourn at Leuchars, Scotland.

Present duties of No. 1 F.T.S. centre on turning Fleet Air Arm recruits into pilots able to undertake all of the tasks of sea-going aviation. Average course consists of some 30 naval and marine officers who are given instruction which, in addition to standard flying training, embraces special work with a catapult fixed to a base on the aerodrome and "dummy deck landing" practices.

The former training is to equip naval pilots for duties they may be required to fulfil as pilots of floatplanes and amphibians attached to warships of the fleet; the deck landing training prepares them for the intricate business of landing a landplane successfully on a ship moving through the sea at speeds of as much as 25 knots.

AIR-COOLED ENGINE

Aircraft used to teach naval pilots at No. 1 F.T.S. include Avro Tutors, versatile and robust two-seat biplanes each powered with a Lynx 215 h.p. air-cooled engine. These machines are light to handle, and easy to manoeuvre in advanced aerobatics. "Blind" flying hoods for instruction in flying by instruments only may be fitted.

ROYAL NAVY

OPERATIONS DIVISION

Captain C. H. J. Harcourt will join the Operations Division at the Admiralty and on September 18 succeeded Captain I. M. Palmer, D.S.C., as Deputy Director of the Division.

A NAVAL EXCHANGE

The seaplane-carrier H.M.A.S. Albatross, of the Royal Australian Navy, has arrived at Plymouth.

She is manned by an Australian crew which is to take over the cruiser Apollo, but is commanded by Captain H. G. Dyke Acland, D.S.O., of the Royal Navy. Built at Sydney in 1926-29 at a cost of £1,200,000, the Albatross is of 4,800 tons and 21 knots speed, and has accommodation for nine seaplanes normally operating six.

On arrival at Plymouth she will be prepared for reducing to reserve; she will pay off on October 6, and will be transferred to the Royal Navy on that day. Her crew will then commission H.M.A.S. Hobart, which, as H.M.S. Apollo, is to pay off at Devonport on September 20.

The value of the Albatross is to be set off against the purchase price of the Hobart.

NAVAL APPOINTMENTS

UNDER THE HOT SAHARA SUN

Paramount has issued a new print of the famous Rudolph Valentino film, "The Sheik," and Hong Kong audiences will have the opportunity of seeing the "Screen's greatest lover" in his most popular role at the Queen's Theatre today.

Adapted from Edith M. Hull's novel, the picture shows Valentino as Sheik Ahmed Ben Hassan, who falls madly in love with an English girl, played by Agnes Ayres. There are plenty of sizzling situations under the hot Sahara sun.

Those who do not mind renewing acquaintance with the histrionic technique of a decade and a half ago should find interest here.

MAE CLARKE TO STAGE COME-BACK

JOAN CRAWFORD'S NEW FILM

Mae Clarke is back in Hollywood and may consider a come-back.

Mae's hard-luck story of ill-health is an old one now. But her latest absence was due to more cheerful reasons.

Marriage, in fact, to an airman with whom she's flying over South America and living in Rio de Janeiro.

Just before marriage, in Cagney's Pluck of the Irish, Mae was as good as ever, which means much better than most.

There wasn't any reason except interruption by illness why she shouldn't have been one of the big stars years ago. So why not now?

Joan Crawford's new picture (before Ziegfeld Girl) is The Shining Hour.

The play, successful in New York and London, was what they call "good theatre." That means most of it is effectively unreal and looks more so on the screen.

All about a gentleman farmer who brings home a too-exotic wife to his family. M-G-M bought it for Garbo some three years ago, when nothing was too unreal for Garbo to be cast in.

Only ray of hope is it will take Joan away from her money-making wail parts and give her a grown-up woman to play. Gladys Cooper, who created the original "Mrs. Cheyney," played the part on the stage.

HERR HITLER WRITING A NEW BOOK?

THE SUCCESS OF "MEIN KAMPF"

CIRCULATION OF 4 MILLION

Unconfirmed reports that Chancellor Hitler is working on another book, coupled with the official announcement that the circulation of "Mein Kampf" has passed the 4,000,000 mark, draws attention to the startling fact that Herr Hitler must be counted not only as the most successful living author—taking sales as a standard—but also one of the wealthiest in the whole world.

While the Nazi leader used the first profits of the book—twelve years ago—to finance his paper, the "Voelkischer Beobachter," today that is not necessary.

900,000 copies, it is estimated, will be sold this year. Royalties (at least one mark per copy) must therefore reach 900,000 marks, or £75,000 at current exchange rates.

The book has been translated into almost all foreign languages, and Soviet Russia and Lithuania are the only two lands where "Mein Kampf" is not on sale.

THE NEW BIBLE

It is not at all surprising that "Mein Kampf" should have reached such a breath-taking circulation. It is required reading in all German schools, colleges, and universities. Every German entering one of the professions is expected to know its main ideas. Even a barber learning his trade must be familiar with "Mein Kampf."

As one writer says: "Once the spiritual foundation of the fight for power, Adolf Hitler's book 'Mein Kampf' has become today the all-embracing lexicon of National Socialist political thought."

Hundreds of German editors of newspapers keep a copy of "Mein Kampf" near for reference. Most copies were sold in the first year of the new regime when everyone rushed to buy the book to prove their interest in and loyalty to the Hitler regime.

Many Germans, too, read the book to see what political ideas the new ruler had expounded in it. "Mein Kampf" is often bought as a suitable present, and 20,000 German municipalities give every newly-married couple at the registry office a specially-bound copy of the book.

The first volume appeared on July 18, 1925, in an edition of 10,000. December 2, 1926, brought a second edition of 8,000. Considering the mass growth of the Nazi Party the first sales were not large, but that was doubtless due to the high price of the book; 12s. for each volume. It is surprising that anyone bought it at all.

Up to 1929 23,000 copies of the first volume and 13,000 of the second volume had been sold. May, 1930, brought the welcome publication of a popular one-volume edition at just over seven shillings.

SUDDEN JUMP

This led to increased sales among the Nazi proletariat. During the first seven and a half years before Herr Hitler came to power the book sold only 200,000 copies.

Then sales shot sky high. By October, 1933, they had pased the first 1,000,000 mark. By 1936 they were 2,717,000, and by 1937 3,437,000.

Before Herr Hitler came to power other countries had not bothered to examine "Mein Kampf." Except in England, where, according to a Nazi historian in the "Angriff," "unable to recognise the significance of this new mass movement of the people, an English publisher dared to offer the whole of five pounds (£5) for all the English rights in the book, including translation."

The first translation into English appeared in New York October, 1933, with the typical American blunt title "My Battle.' Almost simultaneously the London edition was brought out at the rather high price of 18s., with the more prim title "My Struggle." A cheap edition of this translation was published in 1935, and up to date 47,000 copies of the English version have been sold.

THE ENGLISH TRANSLATION

"Mein Kampf" appeared in England when British public attention was concentrated on the religious and anti-Semite struggles in Germany, and there was less concern than there is to-day with the Machtpolitik aims of Herr Hitler so superbly formulated with admirable frankness in his "political testament."

Curiously enough, in view of its great importance to Great Britain, no English newspaper seems to have felt it worth while to make its readers conversant with Herr Hitler's major political ideas as outlined in "Mein Kampf."

In this connection it is worthy of note that the English translation of "Mein Kampf" was heavily cut. Several vital passages were either cut out or altered.

In 1934 a French edition—translation of the full German text of "Mein Kampf"— with a preface by Marshal Lyautey dealing with Herr Hitler's ideas on France, was published in Paris. But because it was unauthorised Herr Hitler's publishers sued the French firm, won the case, and the edition was destroyed.

FOOT ITCH
Athlete's Foot

According to the Government Health Bulletin No. E-28, at least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

BEWARE OF IT SPREADING

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get rid of this disease as quickly as possible, because it is very contagious and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Most people who have Athlete's Foot have tried all kinds of remedies to cure it without success. Ordinary germicides, antiseptics, salve or ointments seldom do any good.

HERE'S HOW TO TREAT IT

The germ that causes the disease is known as Tinea Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to kill the germ; so you can see why ordinary remedies are unsuccessful.

H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of treating Athlete's Foot it is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. It peels off the tissue of the skin where the germ breeds.

ITCHING STOPS IMMEDIATELY

As soon as you apply H. F. you will find that the itching is immediately relieved. You should paint the infected parts with H. F. night and morning until your feet are well. Usually this takes from three to ten days, although in severe cases it may take longer or in mild cases less time.

H. F. will leave the skin soft and smooth. You will marvel at the quick way it brings you relief, especially if you are one of those who have tried for years to get rid of Athlete's Foot without success.

BRITISH AND FRENCH MINISTERS DISCUSS EUROPEAN SITUATION

PLEBISCITE Resisted By CZECHS

WOULD FIGHT RATHER THAN ACCEPT PLAN

Prague, Sept. 19.

Public opinion is stiffening against a plebiscite as a solution of the minority problem. There is almost complete unanimity of opinion in the newspapers against any such move even in order to avoid war.

The Premier, Dr. Milan Hodza, notwithstanding Herr Henlein's refusal to come to an agreement with the Government, and notwithstanding the attempts at insurrection, states that the Government is prepared to continue its policy of coming to an understanding with the various nationalities, especially the Sudeten minority, but at the same time maintains its demand for complete integrity of Czechoslovakia as a basis of negotiations.—Reuter.

DIRECT RAIL LINK WITH RUSSIA

Bucharest, Sept. 19.

Rumania has increased her labour forces working on the railway which is to link Czechoslovakia with Russia in almost a direct line.

Without excitement, troops have been shifted to points where they might be needed in case of disorders or conflicts.

Measures have been taken in the cities to prevent the hoarding of supplies, and peasants have established a liaison between villages in order that they can be informed immediately in case of a general mobilisation order.

The proposal of a plebiscite in Czechoslovakia is not favoured here as it is feared that it might mean a plebiscite in parts of Rumania at a later date.—Reuter.

MINOR INCIDENTS

Prague, Sept. 19

A number of minor frontier incidents in which Czech frontier guards were fired on from German territory were reported yesterday, the most serious being at Asch, according to the official Czech agency.

This report states that between 150 and 200 persons attacked the customs house at the border with rifles and hand grenades and machine guns. Two officials were seriously wounded and taken to hospital.

"The aggressors afterwards withdrew across the frontier," the report adds.

The Sudetens are also reported to have killed a customs official at Breitenbach. The agency adds that apart from these border incidents there is comparative peace in Czechoslovakia. The Government remains completely master of the situation.—Reuter.

SUDETEN FREE CORPS

Berlin, Sept. 18.

The German News Agency in a message from Dresden states that the formation of a Sudeten Free Corps will become effective immediately, its numbers (about 40,000) being divided into four groups.

According to figures published here tonight about 80,000 Sudetens have already crossed the border into Germany.—Reuter.

MUSSOLINI'S SPEECH

Rome, Sept. 18.

Signor Mussolini's speech is generally interpreted here as indicating that in the event of war Italy would side with Germany, although it is not clear at what point her benevolent neutrality might develop into armed intervention.

The Duce's desire for a peaceful solution is stressed, and the speech is described as a sober contribution to the ultimate settlement.—Reuter.

BERLIN REACTION

Berlin, Sept 18.

Berlin's reaction to Signor Mussolini's speech is one of utmost satisfaction.

The speech is described as extremely helpful, particularly in declaring Italy's support for a plebiscite, which is regarded here as a clear indication where Italy will stand in the event of a Czech refusal.—Reuter.

Complete Agreement Reached

London, Sept. 19.

The Anglo-French ministerial discussions yesterday occupied more than eight hours and closed a few minutes after midnight.

The following took part at the conference:—M. Daladier and Bonnet (French Premier and Foreign Minister), Mr. Neville Chamberlain (British Prime Minister), Lord Halifax (Foreign Secretary), Sir John Simon (Chancellor of the Exchequer), Sir Samuel Hoare (Home Secretary), Sir Robert Vansittart (Chief Diplomatic Adviser to the Government), and Sir Alexander Cadogan (Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs).

COMPLETE AGREEMENT

An official statement issued later states that after a full discussion of the present international situation, the representatives of the British and French Governments are in complete agreement regarding the policy to be adopted with a view to promoting a peaceful solution of the Czechoslovak question.

The two Governments hope that thereafter it will be possible to consider a more general settlement in the interests of European peace.

A meeting of the British Cabinet will take place today, when a report on the discussions will be made by the Prime Minister.

The French Ministers are expected to leave London early this morning.

CZECH MESSAGE

Reuter understands that during the conversations yesterday the Czech Government, through its Minister in London, notified the British and French Ministers in writing that the Czech Government takes for granted that it will be consulted before any decisions are reached.

The Czech Government added that it cannot accept responsibility for any decisions reached without its consent.—Reuter.

CHAMBERLAIN - HITLER SECOND MEETING

Paris, Sept. 19

It is understood that Mr. Chamberlain will leave either tomorrow or Wednesday for Godesberg for a further meeting with Herr Hitler.—Reuter.

TRAFALGAR SQUARE DEMONSTRATION

London, Sept. 19

Trafalgar Square yesterday afternoon was the scene of a gigantic demonstration, which was staged in protest against a plebiscite in Czechoslovakia.

Formation of a three-power front by Britain, France and Russia for "suppression of the Fascist war agitators and preservation of Czechoslovak Independence" was one of the resolutions passed.—Transocean.

RUNCIMAN CALLED

London, Sept. 19.

Lord Runciman, who returned from Prague on Saturday, was called into the Ministerial conference at Downing Street and arrived yesterday at 10.30 p.m. followed a few minutes later by Mr. Ashton-Gwatkin.—Transocean.

84,000 CROSSED FRONTIER

Berlin, Sept. 19.

Over 84,000 Sudeten German refugees have crossed the frontier into the Reich, it was officially announced here yesterday evening, and every hour sees the total increasing by thousands.—Transocean.

—Fuehrer's— Demands

Paris, Sept. 19.

Herr Hitler demands the return to Germany of Sudeten territory having a German majority, according to a French dispatch from London.

One fact is certain, says the message, and that is that the Fuehrer is prepared to support this claim with German's full military power.

For districts where there is a fairly mixed Czech and German population, he is prepared to have their fate settled by a plebiscite. The last resort would be by the exchange of populations.—Reuter.

Henlein Calls For Sudeten Resistance

Asch, Sept. 19

Another proclamation was issued by Konrad Henlein here yesterday evening. Urging resistance till the very end, he declared.

"Sudeten Germans, you are still suffering under the regime of terror of Hussite-Bolshevist criminals in Prague. With machine-guns, tanks and cannons the Czechs are attempting to rob us Sudeten Germans of our freedom. Indescribable misery is the result.

"But the hour of deliverance is at hand. Therefore do not despair but hold out. Offer resistance upon resistance. Hundreds of Sudeten German compatriots are joining the ranks of the volunteer corps. They are ready to shed their blood for a liberation of their homeland from the Czech yoke".—Transocean.

JEWELLERY ON AN INDIAN THEME

Costume jewellery plays an important part in the fashion picture of the year. Indian influences are at work, thanks to the Indian princesses who buy in Paris and London.

Iridescence is a much liked theme in costume jewellery, the jewellery that is, which may be expensive but need not be real.

Clusters of pale iridescent pearls are made into important brooches or clips, moon-shaped or shaped like a question mark. They also hang, pear shaped or round, in close dangling clusters from wrists as bracelets, pink, pale blue, pale rose, pale gold, or as drops making a necklace close round the throat.

STAINED GLASS

A second Indian-influenced fashion is one for little tinkling bells as wrist ornaments. A third is for stones, brilliant like stained glass windows and framed in fine gold edgings, to be made into big flower clusters and sprays to be worn on a lapel or on the breast pocket of a dress. One dress designer who uses costume jewellery in an important way goes further and lights up her coloured stones with a tiny hidden bulb.

Certainly when you hold the cigarette cases which have lids made of these stained-glass colours up to the light, it seems wasteful that, closed as a lid when a box cover, pressed against dark fabrics when a jewelled ornament, these stones lose most of their value for loss of lighting.

Another important dressmaker (that is a dress house with the reputation for setting fashions) will this year use jewelled flowers in place of buttons on day coats as well as evening. Elaborate sprays of green and rose jewels or enamel work, framed in gold wire, are used on a wine coloured coat, on a black coat, on velvet for evening.

Enamel is the alternative to semi-precious stones, again framed piece by piece in gold for enamel gives glow and life to colour. But as well white enamel, always edged in gold, is much used for sets of necklace, clips, earrings, or a hatpin.

HATPINS RETURN

The return of the hatpin has stimulated pin designing, and there are double-headed as well as single-headed pins being designed for use in felt and fur caps. Unfortunately the twist needed to secure the double-head pins marks felts and velvets. Iridescent hatpins, too, show an Indian influence.

Graduated balls have come back as necklaces. Many faceted gold balls, graduated from small to big, make longer neck chains. So, too, long link chains of gold framing small stones are used.

Jet plays a certain small part in costume jewellery designing of the autumn, often cut square. Amber, too, or amber and gold comes back with an imitation of Edwardian modes.

POCKET SWALLOWS

Bird designs continue well liked. A very popular Paris ornament for a year has been a double-headed scarf pin of two birds matched by a scarf patterned in birds. Now swallows decorate many a fashionable woman's pocket in Paris with a matching bird on a rever.

HEALTHFUL PROPERTIES OF ORANGES

Peel Contains More Vitamins Than Fruit Itself

It is a little-known, but scientifically proved fact, that, weight for weight, the peel contains more vitamins and healthful properties than the orange itself.

There is a high concentration of valuable vitamins in the orange peel, principally vitamins A (anti-infective), B (anti-neuritic) and C (ascorbutic).

The latter two are especially valuable in the treatment of rheumatic complaints, and such disease as scurvy, respectively.

Comparative tests made on oranges from various parts of the world have shown that the skin of of the South African orange possesses the highest percentage of vitamin contents.

In spite of the value of the peel, it is unlikely that many people will eat it, but its healthful properties can be utilised in the preparation of orange juice.

Most people, unfortunately, squeeze oranges in the old-fashioned way. This, of course, does not extract the juice from the peel, and it is essential, to get the fullest benefit from oranges, to use a squeezer which squeezes the peel as well.

Young Men's Clothes Too Slovenly

DRIFT AWAY FROM COMELY ATTIRE

The post-war generation is inclined to slovenly garb as if it were a virtue, and the trend of modern life is drifting away from comely attire.

Thus Mr. H. E. Stocks, of Halifax, summed up the sartorial shortcomings of modern youth when, as the new president, he spoke at the 50th conference of the National Federation of Merchant Tailors at Liverpool on September 7.

"There may be vanity in the dandy," he added, "but is it half so foolish as the kind which disdains good clothes?" he asked. "Still, I see in the younger generation a gradual yearning to wear a better and more distinctive type of clothing."

Customers, he said, should be encouraged to have a change of suit for every day of the week—it made a man look and feel better.

Mr. Arthur Robert Dewsbury (London) said wrong clothes made a man a laughing-stock. Clothes should express character and purpose, and the King was helping in this respect by wearing conventional dress.

PERMANENT "PERMANENT WAVES"

AMERICAN INVENTOR'S VISIT TO LONDON

Curiosity has been aroused by reports from the United States of a young barber who had discovered how to get hair in waves that are really permanent, and to do it with no more elaborate apparatus than water, a comb, and a pair of scissors.

Recently that inventor, Mr. Ken Christy, arrived in London with his mother, wife, and daughter partly for a holiday and partly to demonstrate his methods.

His is a queer story. Mr. Christy was the village barber in a Pennsylvanian mountain hamlet called Parker's Landing. He says it was purely by accident that he discovered his method ten years ago, and that at first he could not believe it.

It was only after many experiments and perfecting his technique that he offered to sell the idea to the incredulous big hairdressers in New York and Chicago. Since Miss Margaret Ware, a beauty specialist, of New York, investigated and accepted his claims, his method has become popular from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and he has made a fortune.

THE THEORY

Mr. Christy's theory is that all white men and women, even those who lament lanky locks, have a latent wave in their hair. His task is to discover it and to develop it by his method of cutting which he prefers to call "fitting."

Once set, he declares, the wave will not be washed out, a gale only improves it, and with each renewed setting it becomes stronger. Because his method, which seems to involve modelling against the head, does not wave the ends of the hair, he thinks the hairdressers will not be prejudiced by his discovery.

Their ordinary apparatus will still be used to wave the ends. Miss Ware does not endorse this. She says that while the machine-made wave grows away from the roots and at last disappears from the ends, the Christy wave keeps on waving as it grows till the whole length is wavy.

Mr. Christy's own hair is waved in a neat, tailored fashion, and he says the method is popular among American men.

TO APPEAR SHORTLY

Miss Nisa Long, whom we have heard so many times over Z.B.W., is to make one of her all-too-rare appearances on the local stage next month.

Miss Long will take part in a charity concert at the Hong Kong Hotel. What is she going to do? Lots—but the best answer is perhaps that very diplomatic "wait and see!"

Newsettes

Mr. K.P. Chen, general manager of the Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank, who was successful several years ago in negotiating the Sino-American silver agreement, has left for the United States by Clipper plane.

* * *

Mr. S. D. Ren, general manager of the Fu Hua Trading Co., has left for New York in connection with the affairs of his company.

* * *

Mrs. Rose Seva, who is on a short visit here, will shortly be returning to Manila. It is understood she will come back again in the late autumn.

* * *

The many friends of Mr. Oscar Eager will be interested to learn that he is having a very enjoyable holiday in England. He is due to return to the Colony early next January.

* * *

The sale of children's work of the Peak Branch of the M.C.L. will be opened by Mrs. A. Murdoch at No. 153, The Peak, tomorrow.

The usual children's sports will be held and tea will be serve.

* * *

Dr. Lee Ke-fong, one of Canton's leading medical practitioners, is paying a visit to Hong Kong and expects to remain here for a few days.

A.R.P. LECTURES

FIRST AID:—A short revision course will be held at St. John's Cathedral Hall on Fridays at 11 a.m. commencing on September 23.

ANTI-GAS LECTURE: — Wing Commander A. H. Steele-Peekins will give a short course of Lectures at the Lusitano Club Hall on Mondays at 5.30 p.m. commencing September 26.

SCARVES

FASHIONS AND FANCIES

With the approach of autumn our interest is renewed in scarves, which have a fascination for most of us, whether our choice of them is happy or not. Each season sees some change in scarf fashions, but certain general rules hold good for all of them.

There are women who declare that a scarf of any kind is not for them, but this usually means that they have chosen the wrong shape, colouring, or texture. Few but the very young can wear successfully the "halter" shape.

Older women usually need something with more precision in outline. The conventional scarf cut on the cross and secured by a single fold at the base of the throat is usually found more suitable, but both the short, plump neck and that which is very thin may find this severe style somewhat trying.

Tied loosely in front, however, the conventional scarf will soften the neckline in either case.

CLOSE TO THE FACE

Many women find a scarf unbecoming simply because any kind of pattern close to the face does not suit them. For the older woman especially perfectly plain scarves are usually best, and the wearer may "let herself go" in brilliant colouring if she pleases.

Whether the material shall be dull or glossy is another consideration to which women often pay far too little attention. Again, some scarves of good quality look wispy and "tired" because they are too thin. A crepe or rayon scarf will usually be found to set better if it is lined and reversible.

For the strictly tailored woman narrow double scarves, cut on the straight instead of on the cross, will usually be found an ideal accessory to the autumn or winter costume. Only women of the frilly type can successfully wear chiffon scarves.

Women with broad shoulders, tall women, and plump ones will find the stiffer materials which set in "sculptured" folds more becoming. The neat needlewoman can make satisfactory little scarves cut on the straight from remnants bought at sales.

FUTURE HELEN WILLS MOODY?

Will she be a Helen Wills Moody? Why not? She's Jennifer Jane now eleven weeks old, and she's "Bunny" Austin's daughter.

ROYAL ENGINEERS ANNUAL DINNER

ADMIRAL IS PIPED ABOARD SHIP

Piped aboard H.M.S. President as Admiral of the Port of London, Alderman Sir George Truscott, Acting Lord Mayor, cut a red, white, and blue ribbon stretched across the gangway to open London R.N.V.R. Navy Week recently.

Simultaneously, a saluting gun was fired aboard the President, which is the headquarters of the London Division of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, and Nelson's Trafalgar message was flown from the masts.

A large crowd lined Victoria Embankment to watch the ceremony.

Sir George, in his robes of office, was received by Captain J. R. Hemsted, Commandant of the London Division of the R.N.V.R.

London R.N.V.R. Navy Week is the only time in the year when the public are allowed aboard H.M.S. President.

Sir George said that during Navy Week, 1936, the ship was visited by 15,000 people; last year by 20,000, and this year they were hoping for 25,000 visitors.

NARCOTICS WAR BY JAPANESE

ONCE MORE serious allegations have been levelled by the Chinese representative to the Committee on Drug Traffic of the League of Nations against the Japanese invaders of China and their underlings, Japanese, Korean and Formosan ronin, in connection with their despicable attempts to poison the Chinese people by deliberately encouraging the illicit use of narcotics.

There is no doubt whatever that the Japanese, finding themselves unable to subdue the Chinese people and win them over by force of arms, are wilfully attempting to break down their morale by destroying them body and soul with a form of warfare far more deadly than the use of poison gas along the Yangtse front. They undoubtedly realize that the Chinese masses cannot be intimidated or browbeaten into accepting their obnoxious rule so they are resorting to a mean, dirty and underhand method of exterminating them, namely, with drugs—heroin and opium.

That this is not mere Chinese propaganda is borne out by the fact that all impartial observers who have arrived in Hong Kong and Shanghai from North China agree that all legal control of the narcotics trade imposed by the National Government of China before the outbreak of hostilities ceased to exist and that drugs were openly encouraged as soon as the Japanese invasion commenced.

Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, the chief Chinese delegate to the League of Nations, well could have put his country's case far more strongly than he did but apparently he realized that his colleagues at Geneva were aware of what the Japanese were doing in China, poisoning the minds of the Chinese people, as well as their bodies and souls.

It is to be presumed, therefore, that Dr. Koo's statements were merely intended to augment what they already knew but what they were powerless to cope with.

The Chinese people, however, are naturally disappointed with China's failure to receive what she had expected to receive at Geneva. They do not agree with the attitude of certain member-states to hold discussions and postpone action indefinitely. It would appear that they are now insisting that action in some form or another should be taken without delay.

The demand of the Chinese Government is without doubt a fair and just one. China has been a member of the Geneva body since its inception and has remained loyal ever since, in spite of keen disappointments. She believes, and many others believe with her, that, had the League of Nations acted, and acted firmly, at the time of the Mukden incident, the world would have been in a far more peaceful state than it finds itself today, and the reign of uncertainty and fear of war which exists would undoubtedly have been averted.

* * *

JAPAN'S ACTION in trying to poison the people of China is not only abhorrent: it is cruel and inhuman. A feeling of disgust and utmost revulsion

CRUEL AND INHUMAN prevails among the Chinese people, who insist that, where Japan's guns have failed her Tokyo is doing her utmost to undermine the morality of the very people whose friendship she professes to be trying to win by "Peaceful co-operation." She will find that, in this, as in her other barbaric actions (the Chinese aver), she has made a serious blunder, a blunder impossible to rectify.

Prior to the Japanese invasion of China, a determined campaign was conducted by General Chiang Kai-shek and his associates to clear China of narcotics and to exterminate drug traffickers. Heavy penalties were enforced, and the death sentence was passed on quite a large number of traffickers to serve as a deterrent. Hospitals were established for the treatment of addicts and those who reverted to drug after they had undergone a period of treatment were severely dealt with.

Now, however, all this good work has been futile for, while China is waging a determined war against traffickers and addicts in the territory still under the control of the National Government, Japan is encouraging unscrupulous traffickers to spread the use of narcotics among the very people she is out to subjugate. In territories under Japanese occupation, drug traffickers are given full protection by the Japanese Army who, in turn, receive a tax for allowing them to be slowly but gradually poisoned.

Unless and until the Japanese desist and change their tactics in this connection, it will be impossible for Tokyo to command the respect which she formerly held or to be regarded as a member of the family of civilized nations.

FUNERAL OF MR. J.W. WALKER

Large Attendance And Many Wreaths

The funeral of the late Mr. Joseph William Walker, of the China Navigation Co. Ltd., took place yesterday at the Protestant Cemetery. The Rev. Cyril Brown officiated at the graveside.

The late Mr. Walker died at the War Memorial Nursing Home on Sunday after a short illness. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. J. H. Walker, who is now in Cockermouth, Cumberland.

Among those present at the graveside were:—

Captains D. Williams, T. M. Johnstone, L. V. Rowe, P. J. Green, Messrs. J. G. Meyer (representing the Kowloon Bowling Green Club), T. Armstrong, G. K. Oliver, R. Miller, C. Wallis, C. C. Roberts, W. # RETIREMENT OF YARD OFFICER

Holds The King's Medal

Det.-Sgt. T. C. Ravening, of Scotland Yard, who retired recently, received the King's Medal and £12 when a police constable in 1911 for stopping a runaway horse. He also received six commendations for his work in arresting thieves.

Sgt. Ravening, who worked for many years in the information room at the Yard, remembers when only the principal police-stations in the Metropolitan area were connected by telephone with headquarters.

Today messages from the information room to the most outlying districts and even to moving cars take only a few seconds to convey.

THE LEAGUE AND CHINA

Appeal To Lord Halifax: Promise Recalled

The Manchester and District China Relief and Campaign Committee on September 8 sent a letter to Lord Halifax, the Foreign Secretary, appealing to him "as leader of the British delegation to the forthcoming League Assembly to use all the weight of British influence in support of the requests for peaceful assistance which will be made at Geneva by the Chinese delegation."

The letter goes on to remind Lord Halifax that at the meeting of the League Council in May he, as head of the British delgation "expressed warm support for the resolution there passed calling on States members of the League to assist China."

"We regret to note," it continues, "that this resolution has in no way been implemented, and we venture to suggest that both in the interests of international law and for the sake of re-establishing peace in an area vital to British commercial and political interests the British delegation at Geneva should take the lead in demanding—(1) The extension of League medical services in China; (2) an international loan and the granting by League Powers of credit facilities to China; (3) the withholding by League members of all supplies of war materials and oil from Japan."

Today's editorial discusses China's appeal to the League insofar as the Japanese drug traffic in China is concerned.*

ONCE EARNED £10,000 A YEAR

£16,000 Debts Of Sir B. Kemball-Cook

The first meeting of creditors of Sir Basil Kemball-Cook, of Hill-street, Mayfair, said to have had a salary of £10,000 for some years, was held at Bankruptcy-buildings, London, recently.

Mr. H. H. Gaine, the Official Receiver, said that the liabilities in the case amounted to £16,289, and it was impossible to say at the moment what the assets would realise. A number of stocks and shares were to be sold and several debts to collect.

Mr. Gaine added that Sir Basil had stated in preliminary examination that from 1900 to 1916 he was in the Admiralty, and from then until 1920 in the Ministry of Shipping.

From 1920 until 1926 he was assistant British delegate of the Reparation Commission, and for his services he was knighted. In 1926 he resigned from the Commission without pension.

MANAGING DIRECTOR

From 1926 until June, 1935, Sir Basil had acted as managing director of a company, and from 1929 until 1935 he received a salary of £10,000 a year.

His agreement with the company came to an end in 1935, and he was afterwards a director of several other concerns. His income from those sources practically ceased in July, 1937.

Resolutions were passed for adjudication and for the appointment of Mr. F. S. Salaman, chartered accountant, of Bucklersbury, E.C., as trustee, with a committee of inspection.

BOMBARDMENT OF CANTON AND HANKOW

In a letter to "The Times," in which he recounts some of the horrors caused by the inhuman actions of the Japanese air force, a correspondent writes:—

Disappointed at their lack of success in their attack on Hankow and their failure to advance in other parts of China, the Japanese have renewed their bombardments of Canton and Hankow. On Tuesday and Wednesday, August 9 and 10, 400 people were killed or wounded in Canton.

On Thursday and Friday of that week, over 1,000 were killed or wounded in Hankow, and these attacks have since continued. That these attacks are for the purpose of terrorizing the population is shown by the hundreds of leaflets, dropped simultaneously, threatening further and heavier bombings.

The suffering of the people of Canton and Hankow defies description. They turn to us for assistance. On August 10 the Mayor of Canton sent an urgent telegram to this country:—

"Japan resuming bombing on a large scale. Yesterday's raid resulted in 300 civilian casualties, 250 houses destroyed. Today 160 dead and wounded, 170 homes demolished. Appears new Japanese naval command South China determined continue bombing with increased ruthlessness. Suffering victims terrible and more worse horrors pending.

In the face of such suffering and destruction we are not powerless. As individuals we must refuse to buy Japanese goods. We cannot continue to supply money to Japan for the purchase of bombs and oil from abroad.

Moreover, at the League Assembly in September the problem of how to stop this slaughter of civilians will be discussed, and it is imperative that out of that discussion shall come practical measures for aiding the sufferers and preventing these attacks from ever occurring again.

Yours faithfully,

NORMAN ANGELL, ALBERT D. BELDEN, CECIL HENRY CHELMSFORD, A. S. DUNCAN-JONES, MARGERY FRY, VICTOR GOLLANCZ, DOROTHEA HOSIE, HAROLD J. LASKI LISTOWEL, ADELAIDE LIVINGSTONE, PHILIP NOEL-BAKER, D. N. PRITT, A. MAUDE ROYDEN, J. SCOTT LIDGETT, DANIEL STEVENSON, R. H. TAWNEY, W. L. WARDLE.

BOMBER PURCHASES FROM THE CANADIAN FACTORIES

New Sources Of Supply For Royal Air Force

London, September 6.

New sources of supply for the Royal Air Force which are far removed from the threat of Europe-based bombers are opened by the "long range programme" now announced of bomber purchases from Canadian factories.

Exhaustive discussions between leaders of Canadian industry and members of a British official mission under Sir Hardman Lever, chairman of the Air Minister's advisory committee on Royal Air Force contracts, have produced plans whereby Canada's aircraft firms will augment their existing capacity to manufacture aircraft components. Two new central factories will be erected, one at Montreal and one at Toronto.

A central company will operate these two main establishments. Its board of nine directors comprises the chiefs of the manufacturing companies concerned; a "minority" board of three, including two prominent Canadian bankers, will act as liaison between the Canadian companies and the British government.

In addition to the long-range bombers which will be the subject of initial contracts placed with the Canadian industry, other types of aircraft for Britain may be built at other centres, and the mission has already had under consideration for this purpose the erection of factories at Vancouver and Fort William. These arrangements would be supplementary to those already obtaining under which several Canadian firms manufacture aeroplanes of British design for the Canadian government.

TRANSOCEAN AIR DELIVERY

No time limit is set to this long range programme, and the Canadian factories may form a powerful reserve supplementary to Home resources for as long as the Empire's needs in air protection may require. Bombers built in Canada will, if necessary, be flown without military load across the Atlantic Ocean to England. Sir Kingsley Wood, the Air Minister, in his comment on the Canadian plan, said significantly that, "With the range which aircraft are now attaining, this development will augment our potential strength considerably," and the craft for production in Canada will be easily capable of flying over the ocean—and at much higher speeds—as proved by the pioneer flights of the Short flying-boats and the Short-Mayo "pick-a-back" plane "Mercury."

The British mission began work in Canada early in August. Its personnel consists in Sir Hardman Lever: Marshal of the Royal Air Force Sir Edward Ellington, who came straight from visits of inspection to the Air Forces of Australia and New Zealand; Mr. F. Handley Page, representing the British aircraft industry in his capacity as president of the Society of British Aircraft Constructors; and Mr. A. H. Self, second deputy Under-Secretary of State, who is chiefly concerned at the Air Ministry with Royal Air Force contracts, and is a member of the Ministry's special Supplies Committee. Departure of this mission followed the visit earlier this year of a party of experts which made exploratory enquiries in Canada and the United States.

CHINA TO-DAY: SERIES II

UNDER FIRE ON THE YANGTSE FRONT

— BY JACK CHEN —

[This is the second of a series of articles by Mr. Jack Chen, written exclusively for the "Hong Kong Daily Press" following his return last week from the war front and the zones in which China's guerilla forces are giving so much trouble to the Japanese.]

I try to blot myself into the landscape by looking like a tree. I wear a green shirt, with leaves in my hat and a large fir branch in hand. I look foolish—like everybody around me—but feel safe.

The hill on which we crouch dominates the whole valley. Below us and beyond stretches the Poyang Lake. On its shores is Juichang—in ruins. It was bombed, then gassed. The Nth provincial troops were unprepared for this and fell back. The Japanese landing party then occupied it and made it the base for more than two divisions. The Nth Division retired over the narrow plain into the foothills of the Kiukiang Mountains that stretch some 200 rugged li wide between Juichang and the Wuhan plain. We are now sitting with the officers directing artillery fire from a spur of these mountains. Below us, the Japanese are attacking.

After taking Juichang, the Japanese took their next step. They shelled the hills north of the Juichang-Wuhan highway which, in captured maps, they have marked "good road, partly metalled with strong bridges." Gas shells were also used here, but the gas rolled harmlessly down the hillsides. Then the infantry attacked. The first onslaught left the slopes littered with their dead. They were driven back with heavy losses. Repeated attacks brought their casualties over the thousand mark. Chinese casualties were 400.

M-TH DIVISION IN ACTION

Today, nearly two weeks later, we read that they are again carrying out furious attacks on this sector. However, we can tell them now, while they rested in Juichang, during two nights the whole sector had been taken over by the crack Mth Division.

Within a few days, after an amazingly swift march from the battlefields of north Shantung, the Mth had dug themselves in as only veterans know how. They left the valley to the Japanese and took their stand on rising ground above the gas level. Machine-gun nests dotted the hillsides. Natural cover was used to the utmost so that, from the air, it was impossible to know what to bomb. Only an inch-by-inch barrage could destroy them, but the Japs were doing these attacks on the cheap. Only a sporadic artillery bombardment preceded the attacks. So Japanese infantry perished by the score.

Not only were the attacks repulsed, but, in a morning raid, the Japanese were followed back to their lines by a sharp Chinese counter-attack that found the reserves, in one position, still clad in shirt-tails and pants, startled out of their sleep! Dozens of rifles, automatics and documents were sent back to headquarters from this raid.

H.Q. was jubilant. Each new assault and repulse was reported tersely without trimmings. It was ascertained that the enemy was the 9th Division. Hill 26 had been recaptured. Flanking sectors held by Chinese divisions that had been their comrades in Nankow, and Shantung fronts were also being strongly held. They were confident that the Japanese could not break through here, but the defence works were constantly deepened, artillery was brought up. The political sections got busy with mass mobilization work.

The need for this is powerfully impressed on one during the approach to the front. On one sector, the old Nth Provincial troops had done no work among the peasants; so, on the approach of war, the peasants had fled. On the roads through the deserted villages, we met wounded soldiers dragging themselves along without the comfort of water, or food that the peasants might have been able to give them. Some who had weakened on the way were lying dazed in cheerless barns, until the hard-worked stretcher bearers could get round to them, or evil-smelling death claimed them. I was going to headquarters where I could get food. I gave out my bread and water. I had fed two men for a couple of hours. Hundreds more were limping down the road. A lucky percentage rode in open trucks at night.

PEASANTS HELP

The crack Mth Division had its political department. H. Q. was in a neat village off the main road, in a valley back of the front. Its first job was to give the peasants in the area badges of identification, then it enrolled guides (indispensable in this hilly region), explained the needs of the army, insisted that billets be cleaned well by the troops. And the peasants stayed to help the army.

On the roads back of this sector, wounded men were sure of a drink in the villages, sure of a whisk of hay for sleep, or a door off its hinges.

With reams of paper and brushes about I naturally joined the artists making posters. These were plastered over the village walls, slogans written in whitewash, both for the Chinese people and troops—and in Japanese—if the invader should break through. There were two other departments: one for intelligence . . . one noon a traitor was brought in. He was slightly battered. He had been caught in the act, flashing a mirror to Japanese planes. His face was sullen. He was not a local man, but from a Northern province. I felt not the slightest pity for him though I knew that his fate was sealed. . . . The mass mobilization department that was planned to teach guerilla tactics to the peasants, and give them political training, had just moved up. It was manned by intelligent looking young officers and young men and women of the student classes.

In my mind's eye, I could see how, in these labyrinthine hills, the Japanese attacks could be doomed to complete failure and how, given strong reinforcements and the combined action of regular troops, assisted by guerillas, the whole peasantry and a powerful mass movement of support in the rear, the very existence of the invading divisions could be threatened.

JAPANESE WAR WEARY

From our vantage point on the hill we could see the war weariness that has spread to the Japanese troops. They moved fast on the low lands where their gas and planes strafed the ill-armed troops, but their first few encounters of opposition by troops of good morale sent them hurtling back. On the only day our planes came to reconnoitre their positions, the Japanese airmen kept on their walking boots. On the 31st, their attack on Moshan petered out.

In the morning, our guns pounded their positions and our troops pressed them back beyond the positions which they had lately taken from the provincial troops. In the foot-hills, the thick white cloud of a smoke screen was raised—evidently to cover the advance of reinforcements—but, a minute or two, the breeze from the mountains had dispersed it.

In the afternoon a lone plane flew overhead dropping leaflets calling on the Chinese to lay down their arms and surrender!

Next morning at dawn, the smoke from their funeral pyres hung fleecy in the air. The main attack had changed direction and the invaders passed to the south east down the valley to Nanchang, seeking to outflank the impregnable line of hills. They had failed.

NOTE: Suddenly realizing that a flank attack on Wuhan through Nanchang will take months to eventuate, and that Imperial honour demands that Wuhan be captured before the Chinese Double Tenth Celebration, the Japanese command is again attacking this sector. Hundreds of men are perishing before the machine-gun nests of Kiu Kiang Shan.

The third of this series of articles will appear in tomorrow's issue of the "Hong Kong Daily Press."

JAPAN'S MILITARISTIC FOREIGN POLICY

Generals Liable For Diplomatic Service

NEW APPOINTMENTS

Shanghai, September 19.

JAPANESE GENERALS ON THE ACTIVE LIST are liable for service, not only on the battle field but also on the diplomatic front, in order to carry out Japan's militaristic foreign policy, according to a Tokyo report.

The Foreign Minister is General Kazushige Ugaki and, naturally he prefers more military men to enter the diplomatic service for the purpose of co-ordinating his new foreign policy.

With diplomacy fully recognized as a branch of war, the latest recruit is Lieut.-General Hiroshi Oshima, who is appointed Ambassador to Germany to succeed the present incumbent Mr. Shigenori Togo, who is to be transferred to Soviet Russia. General Oshima has served as military attache in Berlin.

It is significant that Germany's Ambassador to Japan, Major-General Eugen Ott, was also promoted from his post as military attache.

This leads diplomatic observers here to believe that there is some military understanding, or even secret alliance, between Tokyo and Berlin apart from the Anti-Comintern Pact.

Mr. Toshio Shiratori, then Ambassador in Sweden and General Oshima, were instrumental behind the diplomatic scenes when the Anti-Comintern agreement was concluded between Germany and Japan in 1936. Mr. Shiratori is now appointed Ambassador to Rome, although at a later stage an army officer will be selected.

Mr. Shigeru Yoshida, Ambassador in London, is to be succeeded by Mr. Mamoru Shigemitsu, now Ambassaor in Moscow. Mr. Yoshida shocked the British public when in a recent speech he justified the the bombing of non-combantants in Canton as a means "to demoralize the people."

Ill health and loss of weight are the reasons for the resignation of Mr. Hiroshi Saito from his ambassadorial post in Washington. This diplomat was much upset by the sinking of the U.S.S. Panay on the Yangtse River by Japanese bombers and was worn down by frequent necessity to make up excuses and justifications for Japanese military outrages in China especially involving American nationals.

The Washington post is to be filled by Mr. Kensuke Horinouchi, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs in Tokyo.—International.

HENLEIN TO EXHORT HIS COUNTRYMEN

Berlin, Sept. 19.

A large Sudeten German rally is being held in Dresden tonight. This is the first of its kind since the Sudetens' flight across the frontier.

Herr Konrad Henlein is expected to speak and exhort his countrymen to fresh efforts.—Reuter.

Newspapers By Air

ALL-WEATHER SERVICE

A remarkable record in regular air operation, at a time of the day when the weather is often at its worst and is generally unpredictable, has been made in the past two and a half years by the company which carries most of the morning newspapers daily from London to Paris, says The Times.

Since the beginning of 1936 the newspaper service has failed to get through on only 10 mornings.

On many other winter mornings the pilots have taken off in mist, have seen nothing of the ground all the way, and have been brought in to Le Bourget on wireless bearings, and landed in the fog along the white line laid for such occasions across the aerodrome.

A little while ago the chief pilot, Mr. J. W. Duggan, made his 1,000th return trip with the papers.

It coincided with the visit of the King to France, and the company, Wrightways, Limited, at that time had the honour of delivering the King's personal newspapers while he was in France.

In order that these might be placed on the royal breakfast-table, a special landing on a small landing-ground near Amiens was made on the morning of the unveiling of the Australian War Memorial at Villers Bretonneux.

WINTER FLYING

Those summer journeys were among the more pleasant trips, starting at dawn and crossing the Channel in the soft colours and smooth air of early morning.

Throughout the winter months the work goes on and the departures are usually timed so that the dawn comes when the aeroplanes are approaching the French coast though often all that can be seen is the layer of mist below.

The service operated intermittently in 1934 and began full operation in April, 1936.

From small beginnings the loads have been built up so that the average dispatch from Croydon now is a ton and a half of newspapers, and two D.H.86.B. four-engined liners are used each morning to carry them.

Generally also there are two or three passengers to be taken—a surgeon answering an urgent call, a solicitor due at a morning conference in Paris, or a Foreign Office courier with urgent dispatches—and sometimes there are passengers on the return trips which leave Le Bourget at 8.15 a.m. and 1.15 p.m. More often these bring to London delicacies for the restaurants.

Certain other services carry newspapers to various destinations, most of them as part of mixed freight which leaves at a later hour.

The Wrightways service aims at getting London newspapers to Paris in time to be read before the day's work begins; and in doing so it is making an operational record of which it may be proud and is evidently giving excellent pilots some of the finest experience in bad-weather flying which the world can offer.

CHINESE VALOUR

day. Four field guns and 200 horses were seized, and several Japanese officers held.—Central News.

CHINESE COUNTER-ATTACK ON RAILWAY

Wushihmen, Sept. 19.

The Chinese counter-attack along the Nanchang-Kiukiang Railway was continued throughout yesterday when the defence forces annihilated about 400 Japanese at Kangkiashan, a small height in the vicinity of Mahweiling, and captured six machine and sub-machine guns from the invaders.

General conditions along the railway are unchanged.—Central News.

CONTINUE OFFENSIVE

Nanchang, Sept 19.

Chinese troops continue to take the offensive on the Nanchang-Kiukiang Railway.

Launching another counter-attack on Mahweiling, the Chinese yesterday routed the Japanese at Siplonshan to the east of the city, slaughtering some 100 Japanese and capturing four machine-guns.

The Chinese are meanwhile pressing on Sikuling, west of Singtze, on the west shore of Poyang Lake.—Central News.

CONSOLIDATE LINE

Wushihmen, Sept 19.

Situation along the Singtze-Tehan line showed general improvement for the defenders throughout yesterday. Fierce fighting continued unabated, with the Chinese recapturing a number of heights to the west of Kweitsungssu, north of Tehan.

Chinese forces are approaching Kweitsungssu.—Central News.

CZECH SITUATION

DISSOLUTION OF SUDETEN PARTY

Prague, Sept. 19.

The Permanent Commission of the Czech Parliament which has been asked to discuss the dissolution of the Sudeten German Party met today.

Twelve Sudeten German deputies telegraphed that they would be attending the meeting and added that discussion was untimely while conversations, begun at Berchtesgaden, were still continuing.—Reuter Bulletin.

CZECH STATEMENT

Prague, Sept. 19.

A statement referring to Sunday's consultations in London was issued this morning by the official Czech News Agency. "The statesmen of Great Britain and France," it says, "who met in London on Sunday to discuss the situation in middle Europe created by the problem of Germans in Czechoslovakia, concluded their consultation by drawing up joint proposals for a solution of this question. The Czechoslovak Government will examine the situation and the results of these Anglo-French consultations from the viewpoint of the necessities and real vital interests of Czechoslovak States."

The statement concludes with an exhortation to Czech citizens to have complete confidence in those responsible for the country's destiny.—Transocean.

IMPORTANT VICTORY

Tehan, Sept. 19.

Chinese forces along the Juichang front claimed an important success on the eve of the seventh anniversary of the Mukden "Incident," when they broke through a strong Japanese line joining Siachao, Laoshuhung, Shihmachuan and Lukiawan on the early morning of September 18.

Large numbers of Japanese casualties were claimed by the Chinese forces. The victory on the morning of September 18 was preceded by another success at Taiyangchai, on the right wing of the Juichang front, which was also recaptured by the defenders after a vigorous counter-attack on the evening of September 17.—Central News.

HANKOW MAKES PREPARATIONS

To Welcome Indian Medical Unit

Hankow, Sept. 19.

Members of the Indian Medical Unit are expected to arrive here shortly from Canton and will proceed to the Yangtse front. Chinese public bodies and high officials are preparing an elaborate welcome to the Indian surgeons who volunteer for medical service.

In Canton, the surgeons were entertained at luncheons by Mayor Tsang Yan-fu, Governor Wu Te-chen, and General Yu Han-mou, Pacification Commissioner. Their arrival in Canton was reported in all the papers here, which praised the spirit of the Indian surgeons, Dr. M. M. Atal (leader), Drs. D. Mukherjee, M. B. Cholker, D. N. Kotnis and B. K. Basu, in coming out all the way to China to take care of wounded soldiers.

Chinese opinion is that Sino-Indian friendship is further promoted by such a mission. The Indian people are sympathetic with China in her struggle with aggression.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek will receive members of the Unit when they arrive during the latter part of the week.—International.

TWIN-ENGINED BOMBERS

AUSTRALIAN AIR FORCE EXPANSION

London, Sept. 8.

New twin-engined bombers, now nearing production in this country, have been ear-marked for early delivery to Australia. Meanwhile, the British government has agreed to divert to Australia a number of new aircraft—mostly Anson monoplanes—originally intended for the Royal Air Force.

Four squadrons of aircraft, with reserve machines and spares, are expected at Melbourne within six or seven months.

They will meet the first requirements of Royal Australian Air Force expansion, and provide excellent training in the pilotage of modern high-performance warplanese till the new and formidable British bombers are available.

Sir Edward Ellington, who has recently completed at the invitation of the Commonwealth government, a thorough inspection of Australia's air defence, criticizes the Australian type of American NA.33 fighter, known as the Wirraway, which is being built by the Commonwealth Aircraft Corporation.

ADVANCED TRAINING

His report urges that the NA.33 should be regarded as a temporary expedient, or as an advanced training aircraft, since its speed is insufficient for a modern fighter. He states that it would not be economical to order more than are required for either of these purposes.

If a new type is put into production when the present orders are completed without awaiting the testing of prototypes or experimental aircraft, there will be a risk of waste and delay should the type selected fail.

In Sir Edward's view a decision should be delayed till suitable aircraft were tested in Great Britain.

Japanese Militarists Digging Own Graves

Hankow, September 19.

"Japan has mobilized two-thirds of her military strength in the 'China Incident' and spent over Yen 8,000,000,000," declared General Chen Cheng, head of the Political Departent of the Military Affairs Commission, in a statement to the foreign press.

"This heavy expenditure and effort testify that Japanese militarists are digging their own graves. The Chinese people and armies must determine to hold Wuhan for three or four months, when the final victory will be within China's grasp."

General Chen declared that only a determination to die with Wuhan can bring China victory just as the French defended the Marne.

Though within one hundred miles to Wuhan from the banks of the Yangtse, the Japanese troops are encountering severe difficulties owing to the mountainous regions and muddy conditions of the two banks which are not suitable for mechanized warfare.

Chinese troops are using up-to-date weapons in these sectors, which have inflicted heavy casualties to the enemy.—International.

FEAR OF WAR IN EUROPE

Shanghai, Sept. 19.

Fearing that war in Europe may cut off supplies to China, Chinese merchants here are rushing orders for metals, rubber and dyes from different European countries.

BRITISH TRADE CAMPAIGN

Goods For The World To See

NEW ZEALAND'S BIG EXHIBITION IN 1940

Britain and British goods are to be proclaimed to the world during the next 18 months on a scale never before attempted.

The Government, itself is interested, through the Department of Overseas Trade, in five major fairs to be held this year or next. These include:

International Trade Fair;

Canadian National Exhibition;

British Industries Fair of 1939, which the Department itself organises, and

New York World's Fair, to open in April.

The Department of Overseas Trade is looking as far ahead as 1940 and as far afield as New Zealand, where a great exhibition is planned to last for six months, ending in April of that year.

SIXTY EXHIBITIONS

British industry, independently of the Government, is interested in at least 60 fairs and exhibitions planned to take place in all parts of the world between now and the end of next year.

These will range in importance from comparatively small exhibitions representing one industry or one industrial area to major occasions such as the International Exhibition to be held in Liege next summer.

During the progress of the Canadian National Exhibition officials of the Department will be actively working towards the completion of plans for the Government exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

Negotiations and discussions about the exhibit are still in progress, but the design of the British pavilion and the general theme of the exhibit have been agreed upon.

Two hundred British firms have already expressed their intention of being represented in the commercial and technical sections of the Liege Exhibition. This will show the part played by the science of water in modern civilisation.

THINGS A JACKDAW WOULD NOT STEAL

When a list of articles said to have been stolen was given at Cambridge police court recently, the defending solicitor, Mr. W. H. Kester, observed: "A jackdaw would not pick up some of them."

Pier Luigi Ghislent, 20, an Italian student attending a summer course at Cambridge, pleaded guilty to stealing the following:

Two harmonicas, a broken riding crop, a bread knife, a throwing knife, a cigarette box, an air cushion, a pipe, a pair of men's blue trunks, a magnifying glass, a whistle with compass attached, a brass plaque, a box of cigarette filter tips, an ash tray, a pocket watch, and various magazines and papers, to the total value of £3 4s 6d.

HWAIYANG RECAPTURED BY CHINESE FORCES

IMPORTANT EAST HONAN CITY

Chengchow, September 19.

After several days' vigorous siege, Chinese forces counter-attacking Hwaiyang, important city in east Honan about 50 kilometres west of the Anhwei border, succeeded in dislodging the Japanese and recaptured the city on Sunday.

Remnant Japanese troops broke through the Chinese cordon surrounding the city on Sunday morning after having suffered more than 400 casualties.

Hwaiyang and its vicinity are now cleared of the invaders. Large quantities of war supplies were seized from the Japanese.

The city had been thoroughly looted by the Japanese, hundreds of public workers and students having been massacred and numerous women violated.—Central News.

CHINESE MAKE PROGRESS

Loyang, Sept. 19.

The Chinese counter-offensive on Menghsien, important town on the north bank of the Yellow River, in north Honan, is making steady progress.

Points to the east of the city have been cleared of Japanese troops. Only small units of Japanese troops remain at a point about six miles from the city whilst the majority of the Japanese have withdrawn into the city.

Japanese artillery units at Menghsien yesterday fired across the Yellow River. Chinese artillery on the south bank replied.

Chinese guerillas attacked Lifeng and Changkow stations on the eastern sector of the Taokou-Chinghua Railway, in north Honan, on Saturday night. They slew more than forty Japanese, destroyed 11 coaches, captured many cases of ammunition and heavily damaged the track between Lifeng and Changkow.

On Saturday afternoon fifty-two Japanese motor lorries loaded with 500 Japanese soldiers on their way from Tsungyichen to Menghsien, were attacked. Some 30 Japanese were killed, and three motor lorries were wrecked.

On Friday night Chinese guerillas broke into Po Ai city, at the western terminus of the Taokou-Chinghua Railway, through the south gate and had a street fight with the Japanese. Taking cover behind their defences, the Japanese put up stiff resistance. The Chinese then withdrew.—Central News.

CHINESE GAIN IN SOUTH SHANSI

Sian, Sept. 19.

Chinese forces in South Shansi won a signal victory in the vicinity of Chungtiaoshan, an imposing hill to the south-east of Wensi, by decimating a Japanese force of 5,000 men.

The report of the Chinese success stated that five hundred Japanese were slain in action.

Braving concentrated Japanese artillery, the Chinese forces, under the command of Colonel Wang, stormed the Japanese line and inflicted numerous casualties on the invaders with hand-grenades and machine-guns.

Two Chinese battalion commanders, Major Yang Ku-fu and Major Yang Chih-tsai, were killed during the height of the battle.

The total of Chinese casualties are more than 200 killed and wounded.—Central News.

VISIT TO LONDON

German Ex-Soldiers To Be Entertained

London, Sept. 19.

A large contingent of German ex-servicemen is expected to arrive in London on Thursday. There will be more than 800 in the party which will include ex-soldiers from all parts of Germany. The Duke of Saxe Altenburg Gotha, President of the Union of German ex-Servicemen's Organisations, is coming with the party and will march with them and members of the British Legion, and their standard bearers, to the Cenotaph on Saturday, when the German ex-servicemen will lay a wreath.

On arrival in London they will attend a Government reception in Westminster Hall. A programme of sightseeing has been arranged for the visitors.—British Wireless.

TSUI WAI-PUI ENTERS HARDCOURT FINAL

Defeats Wong Fuk-nam In Three Listless Sets

By "Ex-Tennist"

Tsui Wai-pui beat Wong Fuk-nam 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

As an exhibition of tennis the match between Tsui Wai-pui (holder) and Wong Fuk-nam in the semi-final of the Colony Hardcourt tennis championships at the United Services Recreation Club yesterday was a disappointment, serving no more than to illustrate the wide gap between the standards of the champion and most of the other competitors in the tournament, but the loser's pertinacity and courage in the face of certain defeat were remarkable and saved the match from being an utter farce.

A feature of the game was Wong's fine start and fighting finish but in all else the whole three sets, which lasted well under an hour, was a hopelessly one-sided affair. There was, of course, no comparison possible between the two players. On the one hand Tsui was for the most part standing practically still on one part of the court, directing the ball where he would, making his strokes freely (though often with deliberate restraint), and unhurriedly. On the other Wong was always rushing about, reaching the ball just in time, to be forced into making easy returns—for Tsui to put away or to keep in play as he chose.

For all that there were a number of occasions when he caught the champion napping, when a Tsui drive, made with all the force and placement of which that player is capable—and which he obviously did not expect to be retrieved—was returned to some unexpected corner of the court. Not always was this return a winner. More often than not the champion stung to action, would make one of his fierce dashes across the court and whip out a real winner, but the fact that Wong was able to make him do this was, in the circumstances, meritorious.

SURPRISING START

The game started off in a surprising fashion. Wong took first service, won it, lost the next, and then ran off to a four-one lead, and had game point for the sixth. Tsui, who had changed his racket, pulled him back, however, and once he had won this game for four-two, went to his points steadily for the set at 6-4. Still, it remained a fact that he did not take the lead till the ninth game of the match!

The second set was devoid of interest, always excepting Wong's ceaseless running for shots. His persistance was amazing. In the second game he dropped his racket after making a back-hand shot on the wrong feet, picked it up again while the ball was crossing the net, chased Tsui's return on the forehand, and almost succeeded in sending the ball back.

The champion patently gave away the sixth game, the seventh was fairly won by the loser, who dropped the next to be two sets down.

. . . . AND FIGHTING FINISH

The third set as a whole produced even more listless tennis, though there were "brilliant" moments when Tsui flashed out some of his best shots, but these were necessarily brief. Tsui went to a 3-1 lead and was later 5-2 and forty-love up. Wong, who from the point of view of stamina was playing as if the match was beginning instead of ending, did not let up at all and, aided by a few mistakes on the other side, caught up to 5-4. That was, however the end.

Wong Fuk-nam gained his entry into this round through being conceded a walk-over in the quarter-finals by young George Choa, who is indisposed

BRYN JONES AIDS ARSENAL WIN

SHOWS NEW IDEAS IN PORTSMOUTH MATCH

Much of that £14,000 which Arsenal paid for Bryn Jones is going to be justified—if Arsenal's other forwards show proper appreciation of his subtleties, writes a Home correspondent.

In their match against Portsmouth, they won two-nil. In the second half Jones came running on to a dead ball left by Drake, and into Portsmouth's net it went—a lovely ground drive right to the corner.

So all was well. The crinkly-haired little man had made openings and seen them wasted, and then scored the only genuine goal in the game. The first was a fluke of the flukiest kind. "Lucky Arsenal!" moaned Portsmouth's 2,000 supporters present as Rochford beat his own goal-keeper. How difficult it is for Arsenal to escape that tag!

Well—there was nothing lucky about Arsenal's subsequent victory. They were the better side, stronger in defence, halves and forwards united in understanding, and with so many more ideas in attack. With his old pace off the mark, Drake must surely have rammed in some shots from those through passes Jones rolled artfully between the backs.

It was not Bastin finishing that Bastin showed, while the outside right, Kirchen, though he ran fast and was keen and game, could rarely out-think Rochford.

JONES-TO-JONES

Arsenal's other Jones (Leslie) took second prize for cleverness. He worked like a horse, too, and featured in the best move of the game—a thrilling Jones-to-Jones raid right down the centre. As fate would have it, the final pass left Jones (L.) in possession, and he kicked weakly at the goal-keeper.

COLLECTION FOR ST. DUNSTAN'S

BERTIE GUEST BEATS FINCHER

Tennis Surprise At K.C.C.

BERTIE GUEST, the well-known local hockey player, and one of the most popular hockey referees in Hong Kong, caused a sensation on Sunday at the Kowloon Cricket Club when he beat his brother-in-law, Teddy Fincher, in the semi-final of the Club Tennis Championship.

Fincher, who was the winner last year, put up very fable resistance and was beaten by scores of 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

Last year Fincher beat Guest in the final of the event and for many years past has been the Club champion.

Guest will now meet W. C. Hung in the final.

GITTINS FIGHTS BACK GALLANTLY

Howard Leads Then Fades Away

H. Gittins, veteran lawn bowler, scored a very fine victory over W. J. Howard in the semi-final of the Kowloon Tong Senior Championship at Kowloon Tong on Sunday by scores of 21—16.

Howard started off very well on long heads and quickly established a lead of 16—4.

Then came a Gittins revival and the former K. C. C. player played brilliantly to score a further 17 shots without conceding a single.

Howard was unfortunate on the 23rd. head when, lying two, he attempted to take out Gittins' back wood for a possible three or four but carried the jack to give the shot to Gittins.

Gittins now meets A. Spary in the final.

SHANGHAI INTERPORT TEAM COMPLETED

J.E. Harvey Chosen To Lead "Campaign"

Final arrangements for the Interport lawn bowls series between Shanghai and Hong Kong have now been completed. The Shanghai team will sail for Hong Kong on October 5 by the s. s. Wing Sang.

The six players who have been selected to make the trip are:

W. J. MacDermott (Police Lawn Bowls Club).
J. E. Harvey, Captain (Yangtszepoo Bowling Club).
H. Wallace (Shanghai Lawn Bowls Club).
K. L. Swartzell (Junior Golf Club).
J. W. Brierly (Junior Golf Club).
A. M. Gutierrez (Clube Lusitano).

Besides being fully representative of the many Clubs in the Shanghai Lawn Bowls League the Shanghai team contains sufficient talent to warrant the great confidence placed in it.

MACDERMOTT'S FIRST INTERPORT

MacDermott will be making his Interport debut against Hong Kong on this occasion, but has given ample indication of his prowess as a skip his season by not losing a single game.

Gutierrez, though with Interport experience against Hankow, has not yet played against Hong Kong. The same applies to Wallace, winner of this year's S.L.R.C. Singles Championship.

EXPERIENCED LEADER

Harvey, Swartzell and Brierly therefore, are the only members of the team to have played in and against Hong Kong before. The local captain is well known to Hong Kong lawn bowls enthusiasts, having first played for Shanghai in 1927, and subsequently on two occasions—in 1934 and 1936.

His Interport experience and qualities of leadership were no doubt responsible for his choice as skipper of the team. He has also represented Shanghai three times in Interport matches with Hankow.

AMERICAN PLAYER

Swartzell can be relied upon for a steady game and has the honour of being the first American to be selected to represent Shanghai against the Colony.

Brierly, who was selected to replace Napier owing to the latter's transfer to Tientsin, has played against Hong Kong on two previous occasions—in 1927 and again in 1934.

VOLLEY BALL FOR CHARITY

Old Paulines Beat Pui Ying

A VERY KEEN GAME of volley ball was seen at St. Paul's College yesterday when the Old Paulines met and defeated the Pui Ying College by three points to one.

The match was arranged in order to raise funds for war relief and the 1200 odd people who attended paid something like $650 towards this very good cause.

The teams were.—

Old Paulines:—Chan Cheung-wing, Fok Pak-fan, Fung Hon-hung, Leung Kit-tong, Chan Sui tak, Chung See-in, Au Yeung Sui Tong, Han Yuk Yuen, Lee Lai-min, Chan Man-kon, Chan Yun-po, Lam Yuen-ming, Lee Ming-hang, Chang Chun-pang, Lau Kwong-yuen.

Pui Ying:—Chui Hang, Yau Kong-sit, Chan Ying-foon, Lai Lim-chak, Wong Chiu-kwan, Kwan Chui-tong, Chan Ying-kee, Yue Ting, Wong Yew-wa, Lam Wing Kit, Kwan Sik-poon, Lee Shui-fan, Ma Tuen Tong.

ARMY CHILDREN'S AQUATICS

ANNUAL SPORTS ON FRIDAY

The finals of the annual swimming sports of the Army Children's Schools in Hong Kong Area will take place at the U.S.R.C. Pool, by kind permission of the Committee, on Friday, at 3 p.m.

The sports are being held under the patronage of His Excellency Major-General A. W. Bartholomew, C.B., C.M.G., C.B.E., D.S.O., and Mrs Bartholomew will distribute the prizes.

Competition is very keen between the Hong Kong and Kowloon Schools for the various trophies, particularly the Championship Flag, presented for annual competition some time ago by Major-General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O. Last year it was won by Hong Kong Schools.

In the Colony Inter-Schools open relay race for the Bartholomew Challenge Cup, the teams competing are Queen's College, La Salle College, Army Elder Children's School, Hong Kong, and Army Elder Children's School, Kowloon. The Competition is restricted to children under 14.

HAVING THEIR FIRST KNOCK

By F. Mela

A number of the Colony's leading cricketers were at the nets on the Hong Kong Cricket Club ground yesterday, having the first knock-up of the season.

The "Interport" nets were very well patronised and I saw Alec Pearce having a knock with W. H. Colledge and N. D. Lloyd doing the bowling.

H. Owen Hughes was doing some fielding practice with young A. R. Kitchell of the I.R.C. and a few others.

OWNER RIDER HAS ACCIDENT

Mr. G. Treverton Thrown

MR. G. TREVERTON, Private Secretary to His Excellency the Governor, met with an accident at the Race Course yesterday when he was thrown by his own 1939 Australian Pony, J. C. I. No. 58, during the training gallops.

The accident occurred near the two mile post. Fortunately, Mr. Treverton was not hurt, being able to return to the Jockey Room, while the pony, which ran back to the stable, was later taken out again by the Russian riding boy.

MR. MORROW'S COOLNESS

Mr. Morrow, the horse-breaker who came down together with the 1939 Australian ponies, very narrowly escaped serious injury. While taking out Pony J. C. I. No. 56, belonging to Mr. Yick Chim, the pony galloped towards the stable and was heading straight for the stone wall.

With great coolness, however, Mr. Morrow jumped off the pony and held on to its rein, thus saving himself and probably the destruction of the pony.

FORTHCOMING CONFERENCE

Measures To Be Discussed By Bankers

Shanghai, Sept. 18.

The National Government has issued invitations to leading Chinese bankers for a second national bankers' conference to be held shortly in Chungking, according to a reliable report.

By so doing, it is further reported, the National Government intends to hear the effects of the various financial measures taken in accordance with the decisions at the first bankers' conference held in Hankow in June.

The coming conference will discuss the following issues:

Mitigation of the panic in the farming villages through making loans.

Lowering of the prices of agricultural produce.

Restriction of domestic drafts.

Strengthening of the basis of the legal tender.

Collection of gold and silver.

Measures to keep legal tender from being withdrawn from circulation in the Japanese-occupied areas.—International.

CAPITALISATION IN JAPAN

Tokyo, Sept. 18.

The Bank of Japan has announced that the capitalisation by banks and corporations during August totalled Yen 152,000,000, showing a marked decrease of Yen 131,000,000 compared with July.

The decrease reflects the setback in war plans.

Prominent among the capital increases and the debenture issues during the month were:

Capital increase—Yen 10,000,000 by the Nippon Chemico-Physical Industry Company.

Debenture issues—Yen 30,000,000 by the Toho Power Co., Yen 20,000,000 by the Nippon Nitrogenous Fertilizer Co. and Yen 10-million by the Nakajima Aircraft Co.—International.

700 RATS IN A SHIP

Unloading Stopped For Fumigation

When the s.s. Somali arrived in the Port of London with a mixed cargo from the Far East, it was stated that 200 rats had been caught during the voyage.

While the vessel was being unloaded an unusual mortality among the rats on board was discovered, states the annual report of the Ministry of Health.

Unloading was stopped and the vessel fumigated throughout. As a result 432 rats were found.

When the unloading was completed the ship was again fumigated, and 103 more rats were discovered. Tests for possible plague infection were negative.

For a ship of the tonnage of the s.s. Somali—6,802 gross—it was stated that about 50 rats would be normal.

Philippine Mining News

ATOK GOLD Mining Company directors declared a 10 per cent dividend to be paid on October 1, it was learned recently.

STA. ROSA MINING Company, Inc., reported that its mill treated 5,479 tons of ore with a total value of P113,143.62 during the month of August, or an increase of about P6,000 over the production in July.

The mill head per ton during the month was P20.78, compared with about P17 in July.

It is expected that production in September will again register an increase over the figures for August.

PHILIPPINE MARBLE Company, Inc., reported that the installation of machinery necessary for the exploitation of its marble deposits in Romblon is progressing rapidly.

The installation is being rushed as numerous orders from local buyers have been received by the company but could not be filled as the machinery has not yet been completed.

It was declared that negotiations are still in progress with a local American firm for the exclusive agency to market the marble products of Philippine Marble in the United States.

Recently, the company was able to secure a loan of about P100,000 from a local bank to push ahead its development work on its marble deposits.

ON THE COAST OF SWATOW

Picture, by C. M. P. S., shows Chinese sentries on the coast of Swatow.

Anniversary Of Mukden Incident Observed By The Chinese Nation

Hankow, September 19.

Chinese throughout the country yesterday observed the seventh anniversary of the Mukden Incident, which led to the Japanese occupation of Manchuria. In Hankow, Chungking, Shanghai, Canton, Foochow, Sian, Ichang, Kweiyang and other large cities, memorial meetings were held by the populace.

A three-minute silence was observed at noon and many people went vegetarian during the day in order to donate the money saved from regular meals to the national cause. The National Flag was flown at half-mast and all amusements were suspended for the day.

In Hankow, a drizzling rain added to the gloom and sadness of the occasion. At one meeting, in which representatives of the Chinese people in Manchuria and Korean revolutionists participated, resolutions were passed to send telegrams of commendation and encouragement to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and the soldiers at the front.

The meeting also decided to urge the League of Nations to adopt effective means to check the Japanese use of poisonous gasses and bombings of open cities.—Central News.

SHANGHAI COMMEMORATES

Shanghai, Sept. 19.

The seventh anniversary of the Mukden Incident passed quietly here while drizzling cold rain dampened the spirits of any would-be demonstrators.

Chinese flags were at half-mast in the Settlement and the French Concession and places of amusement were closed.

Communications by land or inland waterways with the outskirts of Shanghai were blocked by Japanese to thwart guerillas, and ferry boats and river boat services were suspended in the Whangpoo.—Reuter.

CANTON TORCH PARADE

Canton, Sept. 19.

A gigantic torch parade was staged here last night in commemoration of the Mukden Incident.

About 200,000 people took part in the procession. Winding through the city's main thoroughfares, which were thronged with thousands of onlookers, the participators shouted slogans denouncing Japan and sang patriotic songs.

Madame Sun Yat-sen also took part in the parade.

The practice of rigid economy in order to conserve the nation's resources and the cultivation of food crops in order to replenish the war-time food supply were urged upon the Kwangtung people by General Yu Han-mou, Pacification Commissioner for Kwangtung and Commander-in-Chief of the Fourth Route Army, in a speech.

General Yu also exhorted the people to co-operate and to continue their support for the Government.—Central News.

SIGNIFICANT DATE

London, Sept. 19.

Dr. Chang Peng-chun, former professor at Nankai University (Tientsin), speaking to the Chinese Institute on the anniversary of the Japanese attack on Manchuria, declared that accumulating acts of aggression began with the invasion of Manchuria, which would remain a significant date in world history.

Chinese resistance in the past year had surprised the invaders, as well as well-wishers all over the world.

A struggle undertaken by one-fifth of the human race cannot fail, he declared.

It was noteworthy that everyone present had fasted all day in order to remind them of the sufferings of their compatriots and to contribute the savings thereby realised to China relief.—Reuter.

WOUNDED ENTERTAINED

Hankow, Sept. 19.

More than 20 foreign correspondents in Hankow paid a visit to a number of wounded Chinese soldiers receiving treatment at the No. 84 Hospital yesterday afternoon.

The wounded men were greatly amused by the correspondents when they proved their versatility at entertaining by singing a number of foreign songs. The singers were cheered and encored again and again.

During the visit, the correspondents voluntarily raised a sum of money among themselves for the purchase of "comforts" for the wounded men.—Central News.

NAVAL BASES IN SOUTH CHINA

JAPANESE PLANS FOR FOUR

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Canton, Sept. 19.

Four Japanese naval bases in South China are in the process of construction vis-a-vis Indo-China, Philippines, Dutch East Indies and Malaya. These bases are islands known as Nan Ao (Namao), San Tsao, Wan Shan and Keichow, north of Swatow, south-west of Macao, south-west of Hong Kong and south of Pakhoi respectively.

The naval bases at San Tsao and Wan Shan are reported to have been completed, each being capable to accommodate about fifty to sixty planes with underground hangars, extensive runways, and anti-aircraft gun emplacements.

France is said to be concerned over the construction of a naval base and air field on Weichow Island, about 20 miles south of Tonkin. Such a base is a threat to Indo-China and Kwangchowwan.

An airport in Weichow would facilitate the bombing of Kwangai, Yunnan and Kweichow, which Japan has found out to be the base of resistance to aggression. Liuchow, Wuchow and Kweilin, important towns in Kwangsi, were heavily bombed over the week-end.

LANDING PARTY AT POOTOO

Kinwha, Sept. 19.

Two hundred Japanese bluejackets who forced a landing on Pootoo Island, the sacred Buddhist isle off the northeast Chekiang coast, whither thousands of Chinese go on pilgrimage each year, on September 15, have returned to their gunboats after setting to fire a large number of houses on the isle.—Central News.

MAHARAJAH THANKED

London, Sept. 19.

The Viceroy of India, Lord Linlithgow, has telegraphed the Maharajah of Bikanir thanking him for his offer of all the resources of his State to the King Emperor in the event of hostilities.—Reuter Bulletin.

Wuchow Again Bombed

COLLEGE BUILDINGS DAMAGED

Canton, Sept. 19.

Wuchow, in Kwangsi, was again bombed by eight Japanese planes this morning.

The raiders, flying from a base off Chungshan, reached the city about 9.30 a.m. and concentrated their attack on the Kwangsi University. More than 20 bombs were released, the class rooms and dormitories of the institution and many civilian houses in the vicinity being damaged.

The Canton-Hankow Railway was also bombed by the Japanese, who dropped over 40 missiles at Kuntien, Nganchanngau, Yuentam, Pakong and other points. Several coaches were destroyed.

AMERICAN HOSPITAL SUFFERS

Private advices received here today from Wuchow state that during the raid on Saturday more than 40 persons were injured when a bomb scored a direct hit on one of the main buildings of the Stout Memorial Hospital, an American institution.

Bombs also fell in the compound of the Wang Tao Girls' School, belong to the American Southern Baptist Mission.

During the day's bombing it is estimated that more than 600 houses were demolished and 300 civilians, including many women and children, killed or injured. Three thousand people have been rendered homeless.

In the business centre of the city more than 300 houses were levelled to the ground, including the Wuchow branch of the Commercial Press. In this section alone more than 100 non-combatants were reported to have been killed or injured.

Ten students of a boys' school near the Stout Memorial Hospital are said to have been killed when a bomb demolished one of the school buildings.—Central News.

LIUCHOW BOMBED

Kweilin, Sept. 19.

It is now learned that the Japanese bombers which raided Liuchow, southwest of here, yesterday released scores of explosive and incendiary bombs over the town, resulting in several big fires.

The Chinese directed intense anti-aircraft gunfire at the raiders forcing them to keep a high altitude.—Central News.

FOREIGNERS IN CHUNGKING MUST REGISTER

Chungking, Sept. 19.

Nationals of countries having no treaty relations with China and foreigners without nationality who desire to reside in Chungking, will henceforth be required to register and obtain domicile permits from the municipal government, according to regulations promulgated today by the Chungking Municipal Government.

Domicile permits must be applied for within three days after arrival here.

Foreigners who wish to leave the city to travel must apply for travelling permits. Applications must be filed one week before departure.—Central News.

SPANISH WAR

trated their attacks on the Villa Franca de Cordoba sector.

On the Ebro front the Nationalists improved their positions after capturing a line of trenches.

On Friday night, Nationalist machines dropped bombs on the Mediterranean port of Prat de Lobregat, two Republican planes being shot down by Nationalist pursuits escorting the bombers.

Nationalist planes also bombed the port of Gandia and the munition factories in Denia.—Transocean.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR REBELS

Barcelona, Sept. 19.

The Republican War Ministry bulletin last night reports that Nationalist troops, having received further reinforcements, opened a counter-offensive on the Ebro front yesterday, planes and artillery attacking the Republican positions in the vicinity of the Gaeta Hill and south of Musol throughout the day.

Nationalist infantry launched four attacks on the Loyalist positions north and north-west of Gaeta but were repulsed, suffering heavy losses.—Transocean.
